Comments on Anything and
Everything for the Week
By Norman W. Ralston

FIFTY YEARS

Fifty years ago George Grand-Girard started in the drug store business in Circleville. This week he held his golden anniversary and a thousand and a half people crowded into his store to congratulate him. George gave away hundreds of flowers along with other gifts. It seems to us, the flower order should have been reversed and that Circleville should have given this well-liked merchant the flowers instead. Half a century doing a service for a community deserves a lot of attention. George got it this week, but not too much. Too much credit cannot be heaped upon the venerable shoulders of a man who for half a century—and what a world of time that is when one pauses to think of it!—has been going along doing his task the best he knows how, helping in the church, boosting the schools, greeting his fellowmen, living the life of a worth-while fellow and citizen. You have given out the flowers at your store this week, George—we now pass this bouquet along to you.

IN INDIANA, TOO!

Over in Indiana this week where we've come to expect about anything of politics but have still held in high esteem the rest of the state, a young woman of 31 is searching for her two-day husband, a mail-order groom. The two-day stranger within her midst borrowed all the money he could from the various members of his wife's household and vanished. They were married, it seems, after a little correspondence. And now the Ship of Matrimony, as is so often the case in hasty affairs of this sort, has been tossed to pieces on the Shore of Disappointment. The divorce evil, the era of unhappiness which we seem to be going through in our domestic lives, cannot successfully be combatted until men and women learn to take marriage seriously and with the sacredness and esteem in which it should be held. We always read with interest of the church weddings, preparations for which have been made a month in advance. Because then, it seems, the couple about to become man and wife, has thought it all out, considered this and that, and gone about the business of marriage—for it is a business, more or less—in a serious manner. The fly-by-night affairs to Kentucky marriage ports, the repeat-at-leisure sort, never seem to have a very happy inception nor a peaceful ending. Marriage by correspondence is like trying to get a successful ocean trip out of sitting in a bathtub and dreaming.

THE EAGLES HOME

The Fraternal Order of Eagles Circleville this week announced its purchase of a fine old home to be converted into a $40,000 lodge edifice. This is the spirit of building and what helps make America's small cities ideal places to live in. Slow progress, but always building. Lodges do much to aid the growth and the friendly relationship of communities the size of Circleville. They promote fellowship, they encourage thrift through saving for homes like the Eagles are to have here, they promulgate and promote brotherly love. And we are glad to see the Fraternal Order of Eagles taking a further step toward advancement by deciding to have a suitable lodge and club room for their hundreds of members here. The Elks first started the idea of a fine home, the Eagles are next—who will follow?

OHIO MEDICS

Some interesting questions were propounded this week at the meetings of the Ohio State Medical Association in Cincinnati. The world makes wonderful progress in medicine and surgery. Autopsy is 50 many years ago and so simple affairs, and if the family doctor couldn't cure that certain ailment of the human body that seemed to merit attention, the patient died. Today every function, every part of the body is given a close examination when there is any doubt as to the specific nature of the diseases. The

CHINESE SITUATION IS GRAVE

VALLEY FACES FLOOD AS DAM BREAK NEARS

Thickly Populated Greenville
District Awaits Dire Catastrophe.

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 5.—The grim spectre of devastation hovered over the rich Saluda Valley cotton mill and farming region today as the gigantic power company dam at Table Rock Cove, 30 miles from here, began crumbling, and 6,000,000 gallons of water began flooding over the vast area.

Engineers at power house adjacent to the dam believed that it would be only a short while before the crumbling dam would give away entirely. Early today a small crack was discovered in the structure, and by 11 o'clock this morning this had widened to a gap of more than 30 feet.

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 5.—Consternation reigned throughout the fertile Saluda River valley Saturday as the giant 700-foot Greenville water works dam threatened to burst momentarily and release 6,000,000 gallons of water.

In event the gap in the drain pipe, which started Friday night, widens and the entire dam structure gives away, the thickly populated valley, extending from Table Rock Cove, 31 miles north of here, to Ware Shoals, 20 miles south, will become inundated, it was believed.

Engineers concurred in the belief that it could be only a few hours before the dam at Table Rock Cove would give away. The river below, in which the leak poured its rising steadily.

"Everything is holding now," reported H. W. Perry, superintendent of the city water works. "There will be no disaster until the dam gives way, and then there's no telling what will happen," he added. "It looks pretty bad."

Should the dam collapse, it was expected, property damage would run into the millions of dollars, as the valley is dotted with cotton mills and rich farm lands.

Although the towns in the area were mostly deserted, and the people moved to higher and safer ground, it was feared there still might be some loss of life in case the giant dam suddenly breaks Saturday. For many persons in the outlying farming districts had not left their homes, and a few remained in the towns. It was estimated that more than 25,000 persons took what belongings they could move during the night and left the valley.

By courier and by telephone the people of the valley were warned throughout the night to flee to safety.

STUNT FLYING IS FATAL TO THREE

DAYTON, O., May 5.—Three persons were dead today as the result of stunt flying in a light passenger airplane when it collapsed 1,500 feet in the air and crashed to the ground last night.

Those killed were Harold J. Forshey, U. S. army reserve pilot, Walter Clark, and Blair Cross, all of Dayton.

Forshey, considered an expert aviator, borrowed the small passenger plane of A. E. Johnson to give his two friends a ride. At a high altitude, Forshey began to do stunts while a crowd of several hundred looked on. One wing of the plane broke free from the fuselage at 1,500 feet after a steep dive and crashed to the ground, barely missing another plane that had just taken off.

TOM MIX KILL

CHICAGO, May 5.—Tom Mix, the cowboy of the films, was confined to his bed today, a threatened victim of Chicago's influenza pneumonia epidemic. Mix was appearing at a local theater when he seized with a bad cold. His physician ordered him to bed as a precaution against pneumonia.

BREMEN CREW TRIES FLYER AT RACE MEET

To Be Guests At Dinner Tonight Honoring Governor of Rome.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The Bremen flyers will take a flyer or two on the horses Friday afternoon at the Jamaica race track.

Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenefeld, Major James C. Fitzmaurice and Captain Hermann Koehl have been bidden to seats of honor at the Long Island oval and told they can play long shots or "sure things," whichever strikes their fancy.

The third race has been dubbed the Bremen Flyers' Handicap by the board of stewards.

Friday evening the Atlantic conquerers are to be guests at the dinner by the city to Prince Potenziani, governor of Rome.

Sunday the three are to attend church, their journey to Yankee Stadium in hope of seeing Babe Ruth take the ball for a non-stop flight over, one of the garden fancies.

From the diamond pastime they are scheduled to be feted at the German club, then attend a dinner at the Catholic club and a reception at the United Singers' Society clubrooms in Brooklyn.

Earon von Huenefeld presented a gift purse of $12,500 to Miss Herta Junkers with a request she give it to her father, Dr. Hugo Junkers, builder of the Bremen, when he arrives here Monday from Germany.

The money was bestowed by A. L. Wenner-Gren of Stockholm, director of the Electrolux Company of Sweden. It was presented at a banquet in the Ritz-Carlton attended by representatives of thirty nations.

Wenner-Gren offered it as a prize more than a year ago for the first east-to-west flight of the Atlantic.

WALSH QUITS, SO SMITH STOCK'S UP

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Senator Thomas J. Walsh's withdrawal from the Democratic presidential race was accepted today by all shades of Democratic opinion in Washington as copper-ripping the nomination of Gov. Al Smith.

All but a few of the most radical bitter-enders against Smith concurred in Walsh's analysis of the situation—that "it is futile to advance the claims of any other to party leadership in the ensuing campaign." Even these are convinced that Smith cannot be stopped, but they are now saying so publicly for their own political reasons.

OPTOMISTS MEETS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 5.—Five hundred "optomists" of four states were in session here today following the opening of the annual fall district convention. The meeting will continue through Sunday. Speakers for the sessions include Congressman James G. Begg, San Francisco; Ralph Egan, Indianapolis; Carl Schumacher, Columbus; Edward Stockman, Dayton; P. L. Strat, Youngstown; N. F. Nolan, Dayton; and Mr. Charles E. Kern, Lafayette, Ind.

12 HURT IN BLAST

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 5.—Twelve persons were in a Youngstown hospital today as the result of injuries received when a gas main exploded at the intersection of South and Woodland-aves. late yesterday. The condition of three of the injured men was said to be serious.

Slain By Bandits

Although Pearl Eggleston was killed by bandits in Berwyn, Ill., her death has aroused the metropolitan area of Chicago, which has joined the hunt for her slayers. She was killed when she screamed during a theater holdup.

Synthetic Age Soon To Exist In Old America

CHICAGO, May 5.—Prepare for the "synthetic age." That was the word that went out today following a banquet here of 500 members of the American society of Mechanical engineers.

Within 25 years, it was predicted, practically everything in common usage today will have been replaced by a corresponding synthetic product.

The American family, dressed in synthetic clothes, will pull synthetic chairs up to a synthetic table, and dine on canned eggs, "made" sausages and warmed-over ice cream.

Such is the picture painted by Dr. Harrison E. Howe, who exhibited specimens of synthetic products from a magician's bag of tricks. He is scientific editor of the magazine, Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

"Before the end of the next quarter century, he predicted, silk made by silkworms will have become a thing of the past—'Too expensive and no better than the laboratory product.'"

Furniture, Dr. Howe foretold, will be made of molded resin. It will be as stable as wool, beautiful of design and far less expensive, he said.

While his audience was still gasping, Dr. Howe tossed a chunk of "dry" ice on the speaker's table, and declared it was "so cold that ice cream packed in it will have to be heated before it can be eaten."

His hearers were scarcely over the shock when the synthetic wizard demonstrated how science will pack sausage in "caseless cases." Such sausages, he said, will be known as "nudes."

His last bit was the prediction that skim milk will be made into buttons.

THINK YACHT LOST

NORFOLK, Va., May 5.—The Yacht Zella is believed to have gone down at sea, according to Capt. W. J. Flaherty, master of the yacht W. J. Connors III, owned by W. J. Connors, publisher of the Buffalo Courier-Express.

The Connors yacht arrived here today from Palm Beach, having consumed two weeks in a cruise. The ship, with 20 other yachts, was ordered to put in at Southeast N. C. and other ports to escape a series of storms that swept the coast last Monday and Tuesday.

FRIDAY WAS HOT

The mercury in local thermometer must be getting nearer 100 so much heating around here. The hottest point was 90 degrees, Friday night, it dropped to 60 degrees, and Saturday morning it fell to 50 degrees and held there all day.

POSTPONE FLIGHT

SEVILL, Spain, May 5.—Because of unfavorable weather the Spanish aviators' journey and Iglesias, today postponed indefinitely the start of their attempt to break the long distance flight record.

TEST VOTE ON TAX QUESTION UP TO SENATE

Democrats Face Stiff Battle In Fight For 336 Million Reduction.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A direct test vote on the question of making the present generation carry the burden of paying America's world war debt will be taken in the senate during consideration of the new tax reduction bill.

Senator Simmons (D) of North Carolina, minority finance leader, made this certain by sponsoring an amendment, which would provide for the application to the American debt retirement fund of all payments made by foreign nations on their debts to the United States. At present, nearly $500,000,000 is raised annually by general taxation for the retirement of the war debt.

Under Simmons' amendment, all payments made by foreign nations would be applied against this fund thus lightening the tax burdens of the American people to the tune of hundreds of millions a year. His obvious motive is to provide a greater treasury surplus for the fiscal year of 1929 and thus allow congress to authorize a greater reduction of taxes.

The Democrats faced a stiff battle in their fight for a $336,000,000 tax reduction, in view of the treasury's announcement that the surplus in 1919 will amount only to $212,000,000. The Simmons amendment, by providing an assured surplus of from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000, may change sentiment in the senate, if adopted, and result in adoption of the Democratic plan.

Otherwise, there were indications the insurgents would line up generally with the administration, which is supporting a $203,900,000 reduction. With the insurgents generally supporting the administration, a bill allowing reductions in the neighborhood of $250,000,000 may be the final compromise.

MORGAN IS HOME

NEW YORK, May 5.—J. P. Morgan, back home Saturday following a cruise in the Levant on his steam yacht Corsair, appeared to be in the best of health and spirits. No one on the liner Aquitania, on which he returned from Europe, knew the banker was aboard until he was met at the pier by Thomas W. Lamont and other members of the Morgan firm.

FLIGHT HALTED

OSLO, Norway, May 5.—Foggy weather and raging storms over Spitzbergen Saturday prevented the polar dirigible Italia from continuing on its flight to King's Bay, Spitzbergen, from Vadsø, Norway, where it landed safely over a turbulent flight from Stolp, Germany.

In landing, the envelope of the airship was rent slightly but the damage was not great enough to prevent the continuance of the flight.

INFANT SON DIES

Robert Allen, infant son of Alton and S. B. Watson, Smith, died at the home of his parents, 210 W. Houston-st., Friday at 3:45 p. m. The child was born in this city April 9, 1927. His death was due to meningitis.

The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. in New Hope cemetery by the Albaugh family.

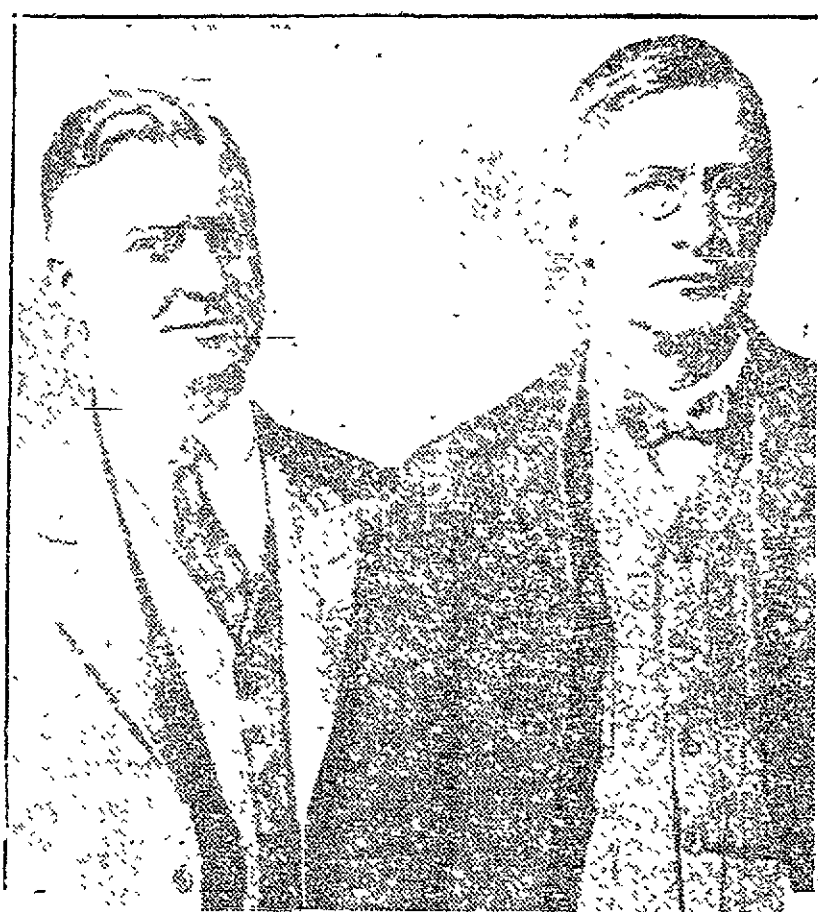

TWO DIE IN CRASH

ARRON, N. D., May 5.—Frank E. Loring, 16, and his brother, Anna, 16, died today as the result of a crash landing of a biplane through a tree in a residential section of Arron, N. D., late Friday night.

TAKE TEACHERS EXAM

Twenty-five teachers of the school examined at the court room Saturday morning before School Examiners M. C. Warren, A. F. Cameron, and W. M. Reid. A class of applicants took the examination a month ago.

DISTANCE NOTHING TO THEM

COME FROM AFAR. Rev. J. M. Hoover of Borneo (right), and Rev. E. F. Lee of Singapore, travelled from the orient to Kansas City to attend the Methodist General Conference. They are two of many who made long journeys to attend the meeting.

LOCAL FIRM GETS SCHOOL CONTRACTS

The Fissell Electric Co. of this city were successful in their bids for electric wiring plans and specifications for the new school houses at South Salem, Highland and Springboro, Ohio. They were awarded the contracts Friday.

HERE'S TIP FOR ALL MARRIED MEN

CLEVELAND, O., May 5.—The state law forbidding married men from representing themselves as single, brought about a reversal of court procedure here today.

Shortly after Miss Alice E. Stack, 24, had Otto Kochenderfer of Lakewood arrested under provisions of the law, she said she would refuse to prosecute the case or appear as a witness.

Municipal Judge Mary Grossman decided other wise.

"The state will prosecute the case," Judge Grossman told Miss Stack "and you will remain in jail until you supply $500 witness bond."

HOLD RITES FOR MRS. NANNIE OWENS

Funeral services for Nannie P. Owens will be held from the residence of her niece, Mrs. Ora P. Snelling, 663 Oakwood-ave., Columbus, Sunday at 4 p. m. Friends are invited. The remains will be sent to Circleville for burial in Forest cemetery, where services will be held at the Chapel Monday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Karl E. Alexander of the Columbus Methodist church will be in charge of the services.

The Albaugh Company had charge of the funeral in this city.

HEAR SUIT MOTION

A motion was heard in common pleas court today in the case in the damage suit of Donald May, through his next friend, Leslie May against the Circleville Oil Company.

The plaintiff was injured by a fall from a barrel of kerosene on October 26, 1926. He sustained a fractured fracture of a leg and other injuries. Being a minor, the suit was brought by his father, Leslie May.

Butler Walters represents the plaintiff and Charles Gerhardt, John Veroy and Oliver S. the defendant.

ASK MERCHANTS TO HELP IN CLEAN-UP

MERCHANTS of Circleville are asked to help in the city streets of the city by putting old barrels and other things in front of their business houses on Saturday night.

The city service department cleans up all downtown city streets throughout now on Saturdays for Sundays and this cooperation is requested.

LIVESTOCK CLUB FORMED IN COUNTY

The Logan Elm Livestock Club was organized at a meeting held in the Pickaway-twp. school, following an enthusiastic get-together.

County Agent H. S. Lewis organized the club and Ralph Head was chosen as club leader.

The election of officers was as follows: Wells Wilson, president; Joseph Davis, vice president; Paul Wilson, secretary and treasurer; Gerald Imler, news reporter; Wayne Wilson, recreation leader.

The members of the poultry club are, Francis Bitzer and Kenneth Meadows. The pig club members are Paul Wilson, Wayne Wilson, Wells Wilson, Joseph Davis, Stanley Davis, Lawrence Wolford and Gerald Imler.

NEIGHBORS FIGHT BIG FOREST FIRE

A big forest fire west of Adelphi on the John Luckart farm, destroyed between 40 to 50 acres of standing timber.

Mr. and Mrs. Luckart had to fight the fire to save their home. They were assisted by 23 neighbors, who helped them fight the flames.

World Conference On International Justice At Cleveland In May

CLEVELAND, May 5.—Cleveland will be the center of attention throughout the United States and foreign countries during the sessions of the World Conference on International Justice, May 7 to 11. The conference is held under the auspices of the American Peace Society, of which Theodore E. Burton is president as a part of the centennial celebration of the society.

President Coolidge, honorary chairman of the centennial celebration committee, hopes to attend the opening session. Prominent men from all over the world are expected to address the sessions. Among them are Aristide Briand, French minister of foreign affairs; Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister; Dr. Gustav Stresemann of Germany; Alberto Perelli, of Italy, president of the International Chamber of Commerce; Antonio Sanchez de Bustamante, Cuban judge of the Permanent Court of International Justice; of the Hague, Dr. Paul M. Hays, U. S. ambassador in London; and Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, former Norwegian minister to the Court of St. James, Ignace Paderewski, former premier of Poland; Ignaz Seipel, chancellor of Austria; Nicholas Tzoules, Roumanian foreign minister; Sir Zdenko Howard, British ambassador to the United States and many others.

Released on bond

Raymond Gray was arraigned in common pleas court before Judge Curtin on the charge of failure to provide for illegitimate children. He pleaded not guilty. The prisoner is out on $500 bail.

300 JAPS ARE MASSACRED IN LOOTING TOWN

Americans Not In Any Immediate Danger But U. S. Is Ready.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 5.—An international crisis of grave potentialities is presented today in Shantung Province by the interference of Japanese troops in the northward sweep of the Nationalist forces toward Peking.

The state department has reasserted its policy of neutrality, but is ready to protect American lives and property.

Japan, according to information received today at the British and French embassies, is determined to protect her 8,000 Nationals in Shantung at any cost up to military occupation of the entire Province. This step would, at once frustrate, for the second time in as many years, the climactic effort of the southern armies to capture Peking and consolidate the Nationalist revolution within the ancient capital.

Anti-Japanese feeling throughout China is described as riotous and there is grave fear that the situation may get out of hand on all sides.

Minister MacMurray, at Peking, advised the state department that violent Anti-Japanese pamphlets distributed in Chefoo, and Tsingtao, presumably by the Chinese Nationalists, have created a situation menacing to all foreigners. American gunboats are standing by at Chefoo.

Despite continued reports of attacks upon foreigners by Chinese detachments, the powers have been unable to agree upon any policy for curbing the depredations.

The United States is unwilling to join any concerted movement against the southern armies without adequate justification under the accepted usages of international law.

Japan and England, whose interests are more closely associated with the fortunes of the Peking government, are already satisfied that due cause for their military interference is at hand.

MacMurray's reports indicate little anti-American feeling among the marauding bands which have broken away from the southern commands.

The small group of Americans remaining in Tsinan, China, are not in any immediate danger.

TOKIO, May 5.—Grave fears were held today for the safety of all foreigners in the environs of Tsinan.

Three hundred Japanese have been massacred by Nationalist Chinese troops looting the town, according to official advices here.

Three thousand Japanese troops are still firmly entrenched about the Japanese settlement where all foreigners are concentrated for safety, but the Nationalists have laid down a heavy bombardment on the settlement.

It is feared that the Nationalists will break down the Japanese detachments' resistance before reinforcements arrive from Tsingtao.

Chiang Kai-Shek, commander-in-chief of the Nationalists, is reported to have destroyed bridges over the Yellow river and torn up the railroad that runs from Tsingtao to Tientsin. This will seriously delay the arrival at Tsinan of 5,000 Japanese troops now rushing there.

The Nationalists in Tsinan are said to number 30,000. In Tsinan, they ran amuck, shooting at all foreigners on sight. Those who could not flee to the safety of the Japanese settlement, many were caught outside on the streets to have been killed.

Ministers of the United States and European nations have been unable to get word from the consulates in Tsinan. No word has come from J. M. Arent and G. B. Wood, American embassies in the Standard Oil Co. of New York whose property at Tsinan was invaded by the marauding Nationalists.

The Chinese have sustained heavy losses at the hands of the defending Japanese. Hundreds have been killed and many wounded.

Although Pearl Eggleston was killed by bandits in Berwyn, Ill., her death has aroused the metropolitan area of Chicago, which has joined the hunt for her slayers. She was killed when she screamed during a theater holdup.

Synthetic Age Soon To Exist In Old America

CHICAGO, May 5.—Prepare for the "synthetic age." That was the word that went out today following a banquet here of 500 members of the American society of Mechanical engineers.

Within 25 years, it was predicted, practically everything in common usage today will have been replaced by a corresponding synthetic product.

The American family, dressed in synthetic clothes, will pull synthetic chairs up to a synthetic table, and dine on canned eggs, "nude" sausages and warmed-over ice cream.

Such is the picture painted by Dr. Harrison E. Howe, who exhibited specimens of synthetic products from a magician's bag of tricks. He is scientific editor of the magazine, Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

"For the end of the next quarter century, he predicted, silk made by silkworms will have become a thing of the past—'Too expensive and no better than the laboratory product.'"

Furniture, Dr. Howe foretold, will be made of molded resin. It will be as stable as wool, beautiful of design and far less expensive, he said.

While his audience was still gasping, Dr. Howe tossed a chunk of "dry" ice on the speaker's table, and declared it was "so cold that ice cream packed in it will have to be heated before it can be eaten."

His hearers were scarcely over the shock when the synthetic wizard demonstrated how science will pack sausage in "caseless cases." Such sausages, he said, will be known as "nudes."

His last bolt was the prediction that skim milk will be made into buttons.

THINK YACHT LOST

NORFOLK, Va., May 5.—The Yacht Zella is believed to have gone down at sea, according to Capt. W. Flaherty, master of the yacht W. J. Conners III, owned by W. J. Conners, publishers of the Buffalo Courier-Express.

The Conners yacht arrived here today from Palm Beach having consumed two weeks in making the trip. She, with 20 other yachts were obliged to put in at Southport, N. C., and other way ports to escape a series of storms that swept the coast last Monday and Tuesday.

FRIDAY WAS HOT

The mercury in local thermometers must be getting nervous with so much hopping around. Friday, the hottest point was 90 degrees. Friday night it dropped to 60 degrees, and Saturday at noon it was still going down and had reached 50 degrees.

POSTPONE FLIGHT

SEVILLE, Spain, May 5.—Because of unfavorable weather, the Spanish aviators, Jimenez and Iglesias, today postponed indefinitely the start of their attempt to break the long distance flight record.

TEST VOTE ON TAX QUESTION UP TO SENATE

Democrats Face Stiff Battle In Fight For 336 Million Reduction.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—A direct test vote on the question of making the present generation carry the burden of paying America's world war debt will be taken in the senate during consideration of the new tax reduction bill.

Senator Simmons (D) of North Carolina, minority finance leader, made this certain by sponsoring an amendment, which would provide for the application to the American debt retirement fund of all payments made by foreign nations on their debts to the United States. At present, nearly $500,000,000 is raised annually by general taxation for the retirement of the war debt.

Under Simmons' amendment, all payments made by foreign nations would be applied against this fund thus lightening the tax burdens of the American people to the tune of hundreds of millions a year. His obvious motive is to provide a greater treasury surplus for the fiscal year of 1929 and thus allow congress to authorize a greater reduction of taxes.

The Democrats faced a stiff battle in their fight for a $336,000,000 tax reduction, in view of the treasury's announcement that the surplus in 1919 will amount only to $212,000,000. The Simmons amendment, by providing an assured surplus of from $400,000,000 to $500,000,000, may change sentiment in the senate, if adopted, and result in adoption of the Democratic plan.

Otherwise, there were indications the insurgents would line up generally with the administration, which is supporting a $203,000,000 reduction. With the insurgents generally supporting the administration, a bill allowing reductions in the neighborhood of $250,000,000 may be the final compromise.

MORGAN IS HOME

NEW YORK, May 5.—J. P. Morgan, back home Saturday following a cruise in the Levant on his steam yacht Corsair, appeared to be in the best of health and spirits. No one on the liner Aquitania, on which he returned from Europe, knew the banker was aboard until he was met at the pier by Thomas W. Lamont and other members of the Morgan firm.

FLIGHT HALTED

OSLO, Norway, May 5.—Foggy weather and raging storms over Spitzbergen Saturday prevented the polar dirigible Italia from continuing on its flight to King's Bay, Spitzbergen, from Vadsø, Norway, where it landed safely over a turbulent flight from Stolp, Germany.

In landing, the envelope of the airship was rent slightly but the damage was not great enough to prevent the continuance of the flight.

INFANT SON DIES

Robert Alton infant son of Alton and Sidde Watson Smith, died at the home of his parents, 240 W. Houston-st. Friday at 3:45 p. m. The child was born in this city April 9, 1923. His death was due to inanition.

The funeral services were held Saturday. Interment was made in New Holland cemetery by the Albaugh Company.

TWO DIE IN CRASH

AKRON, O., May 5.—Frank Rozensky, 38, and his daughter, Anna, 16, are dead today as the result of Rozensky's auto crashing through a railing into a reservoir in Sandy Beach park, near here late Friday night.

HERE'S TIP FOR ALL MARRIED MEN

CLEVELAND, O., May 5.—The state law forbidding married men from representing themselves as single, brought about a reversal of court procedure here today.

Shortly after Miss Alice E. Stack, 24, had Otto Kochenderfer of Lakewood arrested under provisions of the law, she said she would refuse to prosecute the case or appear as a witness. Municipal Judge Mary Grossman decided other wise. "The state will prosecute the case," Judge Grossman told Miss Stack "and you will remain in jail until you supply $500 witness bond."

HOLD RITES FOR MRS. NANNIE OWENS

Funeral services for Nannie P. Owens will be held from the residence of her niece, Mrs. Ora P. Snelling, 663 Oakwood-Ave., Columbus, Sunday at 4 p. m. Friends are invited. The remains will be sent to Circleville for burial in Forest cemetery, where services will be held at the Chapel Monday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Karl E. Alexander of the Columbus Methodist church will be in charge of the services.

The Albaugh Company had charge of the funeral in this city.

HEAR SUIT MOTION

A motion was heard in common pleas court today in the case in the damage suit of Donald May, through his next friend, Leslie May against the Circleville Oil Company.

The plaintiff was injured by a truck of the defendant company on October, 26, 1926. He sustained an alleged fracture of a leg and other injuries. Being a minor the suit for damages amounting to $7,500, was brought by his father, Leslie May.

Barton Walters represents the plaintiff and Charles Gerhardt, and John Vorys of Columbus, the defendant.

ASK MERCHANTS TO HELP IN CLEAN-UP

Merchants of Circleville are asked to keep the city streets clean, especially for over the week-end and by not putting old papers and other debris in front of their business houses on Saturday night.

The city service department cleans up all downtown city street midnight now on Saturdays for Sundays and this cooperation is requested.

LIVESTOCK CLUB FORMED IN COUNTY

World Conference On International Justice At Cleveland In May

CLEVELAND, May 5.—Cleveland will be the center of attention throughout the United States and foreign countries during the sessions of the World Conference on International Justice, May 7 to 11. The conference is held under the auspices of the American Peace Society, of which Theodore E. Burton is president as a part of the centennial celebration of the society.

President Coolidge, honorary chairman of the centennial celebration committee, hopes to attend the opening session. Prominent men from all over the world are expected to address the sessions. Among them are Aristide Briand, French minister of foreign affairs; Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign minister; Dr. Gustav Stresemann, of Germany; Alberto Perelli, of Italy, president of the International Chamber of Commerce; Antonio Sanchez de Bustamante of Cuba, judge of the Permanent Court of International Justice at the Hague; Dr. Paul M. Milykoff of Russia; Dr. Fridtjof Nasen former Norwegian minister to the Court of St. James; Ignace Paderewski, former premier of Poland; Ignatz Seipel, chancellor of Austria; Nicholas Titulesco, Rumanian foreign minister; Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States and many others.

RELEASED ON BOND

Raymond Gray was arraigned in common pleas court before Judge Curtin on the charge of failure to provide for illegitimate children. He pleaded not guilty. The prisoner is out on $500 bail.

300 JAPS ARE MASSACRED IN LOOTING TOWN

Americans Not In Any Immediate Danger But U. S. Is Ready.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 5.—An international crisis of grave potentialities is presented today in Shantung Province by the interference of Japanese troops in the northward sweep of the Nationalist forces toward Peking.

The state department has reasserted its policy of neutrality, but is ready to protect American lives and property.

Japan, according to information received today at the British and French embassies, is determined to protect her 8,000 Nationals in Shantung at any cost up to military occupation of the entire Province. This step would at once frustrate, for the second time in as many years, the climatic effort of the southern armies to capture Peking and consolidate the Nationalist revolution within the ancient capital.

Anti-Japanese feeling throughout China is described as riotous and there is grave fear that the situation may get out of hand on all sides.

Minister MacMurray, at Peking advised the state department that violent Anti-Japanese pamphlets distributed in Cheefoo and Iain-giao, presumably by the Chinese Nationalists, have created a situation menacing to all foreigners. American gunboats are standing by at Cheefoo.

Despite continued reports of attacks upon foreigners by Chinese detachments, the powers have been unable to agree upon any policy for curbing the depredations.

The United States is unwilling to join any concerted movement against the southern armies with the T're-e Nandin e e e t e t e out adequate justification under the accepted usages of international law.

Japan and England, whose interests are more closely associated with the fortunes of the Peking government, are already satisfied that due cause for their military interference is at hand.

MacMurray's reports indicate little anti-American feeling among the marauding bands which have broken away from the southern commands.

The small group of Americans remaining in Tsinan, China, are not in any immediate danger.

TOKIO, May 5.—Grave fears were held today for the safety of all foreigners in the environs of Tsinan.

Three hundred Japanese have been massacred by Nationalist Chinese troops looting the town, according to official advices here.

Three thousand Japanese troops are still firmly entrenched about the Japanese settlement where all foreigners are concentrated for safety, but the Nationalists have laid down a heavy bombardment on the settlement.

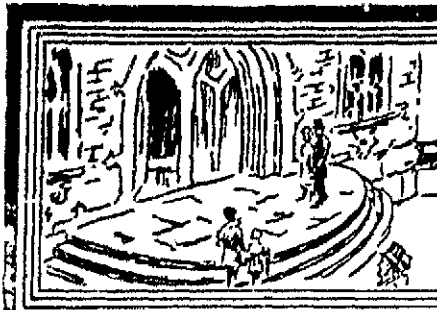

It is feared that the Nationalists will break down the Japanese detachments' resistance before reinforcements arrive from Tsing-Tao.

Chiang Kai-Shek, commander-in-chief of the Nationalists, is reported to have destroyed bridges over the Yellow river and torn up the railroad that runs from Tsing-Tao to Tsinan. This will seriously delay the arrival at Tsinan of 5,000 Japanese troops now rushing there.

The Nationalists in Tsinan are said to number 30,000 in looting Tsinan, they ran amuck, shooting at all foreigners on sight. Those who could flee to the safest haven the Japanese settlement. Many who were caught outside, are believed to have been killed.

Ministers of the United States and European nations have been unable to get word from their consulates in Tsinan. No word has come from J. N. Aven and G. R. Woolf, American employees of the Standard Oil Co. of New York, whose property at Tsinan was invaded by the marauding Nationalists.

The Chinese have sustained heavy losses at the hands of the defending Japanese. Hundreds have been killed and many wounded.

THE BETTER WAY

A large section of the Christian youth of America, through the International Council of Religious Education, has expressed the hope that President Coolidge would reduce the naval building program to the lowest possible minimum. The memorial addressed to the president, as adopted by the representatives of the youth organizations of thirty-nine denominations, reads:

"We deeply deplore any tendency toward a policy of a competitive naval program. We urge upon you and upon Congress that the promotion of friendship and good will among nations, which all good citizens desire, shall be encouraged by the strict limitation of any naval program which may justly be interpreted as unfriendly, or as a preparation for war."

"We express the belief that a great majority of the Christian young people of the United States desire that, our government, to which we affirm our loyal allegiance, shall take a positive and definite position for peace under your leadership."

The Big Game

I may save a million pounds

And store it in the bank.

Or entertain a million men

With humor wild and rank;

And set the world agape

With the fodder bills I've paid.

But I'll like a better credit

When the final game is played.

Oh, I'd like to count my assets

A dozen million snails.

A million burdens lifted

O'er ten thousand million miles.

And, when at last, I come to meet

My manhood face to face

I'd like to know that I had made

The world a better place.

To know I'd faced the battle.

And bravely manned the guns:

Had kept my batting average high

And helped to score the runs;

That when I cross the border-line

And step upon the star,

I'll cast a proud look back to earth.

And know I once was there.

The Church Invites You

The Value of Good Thoughts.

Coolidge says, "Good thoughts are true wealth; they are fountains of living water; they are gems that always shine; they are imperishable shields to protect character; they are goodly apparel for the mind; they are right noble companions; they are fair angels of light, they are flowers of rich beauty and fragrance; they are seeds of noble actions and noble institutions; they are molds in which character is formed."

The Bible is the book of good thoughts; it is the textbook of the church; it will be read next Sunday.

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

Creamed Comments on the Sunday School Lesson, Greatness Through Service, Mark 10:35-45, for Sunday, May 6th.

With the crucifixion week but a few days ahead and while on the way to Jerusalem, Jesus closed his ministry in Perea with the third forecast of his fate in the capital and the second rebuke of ambition in the apostolic circle.

V. 35. "And there came near unto him, James and John, the sons of Zebedee saying unto him, Teacher, we would that thou shouldst do for us whatsoever we will ask of thee." Christ was addressed as a king having power of conferring favors. The desire of ministerial promotion was evident then as now.

V. 36. "And he said unto them, what would ye that I should do for thee?" Jesus proceeds to uncover the hidden secrets which when exposed will serve as a basis of judgment.

V. 37. "And they said unto him, grant unto us that we sit, one on the right hand, and one on the left hand, in glory." Here is a wrong prayer because it is absolutely selfish; they wanted to be honored with a crown and a position above all others.

V. 38. "But Jesus said unto them, ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink the cup that I drink? Or to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?" Service implies, first, correct information and proper evaluation of true living which may call for abject suffering such as was Christ's on the cross.

V. 39. "And they said unto him, we are able. And Jesus said unto them, the cup that I drink, ye shall drink; and with the baptism that I am baptized with shall ye be baptized." The answer given by the disciples was the only answer they could give but it carried more meaning than they were aware of for they each suffered martyrdom.

V. 40. "But to sit on my right hand or on my left is not mine to give; but it is for them for whom it is prepared." Salvation is not purchased but freely given to those who have been duly prepared by regeneration and sanctification.

V. 41. "And when the ten heard it, they began to be moved with indignation concerning James and John." All the disciples were human else there would have been pity instead of criticism, few can stand the test of unfair competition.

Vs. 42-43. "And Jesus called them to him, and saith unto them, ye know that they who accounted to rule over the Gentiles lord it over them. But it shall not be so among you; but whosoever would become great among you, shall be your minister. Christianity is diametrically opposed to arbitrary authority. Christ does not deprecate the desire for greatness but points the might be that the inefficient teachers might become competent by provided training courses.

2. What should a minister do whose convictions differ from that of his church's official creed? Orthodox would say resign; the more liberal view is that differences of convictions might only be a difference of opinion and to be able to preach the great outstanding truths one may well sacrifice his own opinions on non-essentials.

The Big Game
I may save a million pounds And store it in the bank. Or entertain a million men With humor wild and rank; And set the world agaping With the fodder bills I've paid, But I'll like a better credit When the final game is played.

Oh, I'd like to count my assets A dozen million smiles, A million burdens lifted O'er ten thousand million miles, And, when at last, I come to meet My manhood face to face I'd like to know that I had made The world a better place.

To know I'd faced the battle, And bravely manned the guns; Had kept my batting average high And helped to score the runs; That when I cross the border-line And step upon the star, I'll cast a proud look back to earth, And know I once was there.

The Church Invites You

The Value of Good Thoughts.

Coolidge says, "Good thoughts are true wealth; they are fountains of living water; they are gems that always shine; they are imperishable shields to protect character; they are goodly apparel for the mind; they are right noble companions; they are fair angels of light; they are flowers of rich beauty and fragrance; they are seeds of noble actions and noble institutions; they are molds in which character is formed."

The Bible is the book of "good thoughts"; it is the textbook of the church; it will be read next Sunday.

Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

The (Northern) Presbyterian church is planning to spend $3,000,000 on a national edifice at Washington, D. C., and the Disciples of Christ are contemplating a similar building.

A campaign is now on for $6,000,000 by June 30, 1929, for Near East Relief. This will provide for the training of 33,000 orphans and give relief to 28,000 refugees.

A nation-wide campaign for $6,800,000 is now being conducted for the Washington Cathedral of the Episcopal church. Gen. John J. Pershing being chairman of the campaign, treasurer Mellon being secretary; this cathedral is proposed to be in keeping with the Westminster Abbey; the aim is to have an endowment of $30,000,000.

Dr. Lynn Harold Hough, internationally known as author, lecturer and preacher, who for the past eight years has been pastor of the Central Methodist Episcopal Church, Detroit, has resigned, and will become pastor of the American church in Montreal, Canada. He will spend the summer in Europe and assume his duties in September.

gist of national reputation says, "Piety comes high in the United States. It costs as much as a package of chewing gum per day or a trolley car ride a day, a shoe shine every other day, or a cheap ticket to a movie once a week, this amount is the average amount given per church member for the support of the church."

The Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, a Catholic church now under construction at Washington, D. C., at a cost of $5,000,000 will be the largest Roman Catholic church in America. The length of the building will be 420 feet, the width of the main transept 200 feet. A 90 foot dome will rise 254 feet above the ground; when completed, forty chapels will be under one roof. The crypt is already open, attracting the devout from near and far.

(Send church and Sunday school problems in question form to the church editor—question with answer will appear in later issue.)

1. How may inferior teachers in the Sunday school be displaced by more competent ones? Every Sunday school ought to have a policy that will make possible a change of teachers at certain periods such as is done in the public schools. It is a good policy to arrange for teachers for one year at a time only. The matter of appointing the teachers might become competent of a competent committee. Every Sunday school ought to maintain a teacher training class and all young teachers ought to be requested to take these courses; it might be that the inefficient teachers might become competent by provided training courses.

2. What should a minister do whose convictions differ from that of his church's official creed? Orthodox would say resign; the more liberal view is that differences of convictions might only be a difference of opinion and to be able to preach the great outstanding truths one may well sacrifice his own opinions on non-essentials.

Creamed Comments on the Sunday School Lesson, Greatness Through Service, Mark 10:35-45, for Sunday, May 6th.

With the crucifixion week but a few days ahead and while on the way to Jerusalem, Jesus closed his ministry in Perea with the third forecast of his fate in the capital and the second rebuke of ambition in the apostolic circle.

V. 35. "And there came near unto him, James and John, the sons of Zebedee saying unto him, Teacher, we would that thou shouldst do for us whatsoever we will ask of thee." Christ was addressed as a king having power of conferring favors. The desire of ministerial promotion was evident then as now.

V. 36. "And he said unto them, what would ye that I should do for thee?" Jesus proceeds to uncover the hidden secrets which when exposed will serve as a basis of judgment.

V. 37. "And they said unto him, grant unto us that we sit, one on the right hand, and one on the left hand, in glory." Here is a wrong prayer because it is absolutely selfish; they wanted to be honored with a crown and a position above all others.

V. 38. "But Jesus said unto them, ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink the cup that I drink? Or to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?" Service implies, first, correct information and proper evaluation of true living which may call for abject suffering such as was Christ's on the cross.

V. 39. "And they said unto him, we are able. And Jesus said unto them, the cup that I drink, ye shall drink; and with the baptism that I am baptized withal shall ye be baptized." The answer given by the disciples was the only answer they could give but it carried more meaning than they were aware of for they each suffered martyrdom.

V. 40. "But to sit on my right hand or on my left is not mine to give; but it is for them for whom it is prepared." Salvation is not purchased but freely given to those who have been duly prepared by regeneration and sanctification.

V. 41. "And when the ten heard it, they began to be moved with indignation concerning James and John." All the disciples were human else there would have been pity instead of criticism; few can stand the test of unfair competition.

Vs. 42-43. "And Jesus called them to him, and saith unto them, ye know that they who accounted to rule over the Gentiles lord it over them. But it shall not be so among you; but whosoever would become great among you, shall be your minister." Christianity is diametrically opposed to arbitrary authority. Christ does not deprecate the desire for greatness but points the might be that the inefficient teachers might become competent by provided training courses.

2. What should a minister do whose convictions differ from that of his church's official creed? Orthodox would say resign; the more liberal view is that differences of convictions might only be a difference of opinion and to be able to preach the great outstanding truths one may well sacrifice his own opinions on non-essentials.

way—that of humble service. Vs. 44-45. "And whosoever would be first among you, shall be servant of all." Of these teachings, Christ is the model; the real history of mankind portrays life of men called great because of noble deeds rendered.

Discussion Questions on the Sunday School Lesson, Greatness Through Service, Mark 10:35-45 for Sunday, May 6th.

1. When is it right and when is it wrong to seek positions of service?
2. How should one rightfully attain positions of power and trust?
3. How can we keep from making wrong prayers?
4. What is the limiting condition of every true and sincere prayer?
5. Why should the other disciples find fault with the two who sought special favor?
6. What is the crown that fadeth not away?
7. Give illustrations of those who became great through service?

Clericus says, "How slow we are to see that worldly ambitions, competition and self-assertion are utterly alien to the social order of brotherhood and love in Christ." When we recognize our stewardship, our ambition will be to serve. The only competition among true stewards is a competition in good works propelled by the Christian motive."

Lesson Prayer:—"O Lord, teach us to pray aright; instill within us a true spirit and motive of service; lead us to do all things in Thy name."

DERE MOM

Circleville, O., May 5, 1928. Mr. very dere mom.

I feel quite well agin thank you but O me O my such hair-ible medicine I had to take. It took it but how !!!!!!! If I couldn't find a spoon I took it with a fork Brite eh? In English we was studin' some more of them there classics and one question was what did Bicker down a valley mean and another was what did He stayed not for brake mean. Fer the first one I put down to Bicker down the valley meant to have an undignified quarrel in a law place among the hills and fer the second I set down an took me in hand and in rote down an Me stayed not fer brake meant. He never stop for a me-can-aye-kai con-tri-vance to reduce speed by means of friction. Now I think there is two of the classiest answers at ever was. I ain't got me paper back yet but spect I'll get bout one hundred per cent. Don't you. Don't you like them words through.

Mom I red sompin in a noospaper the other day an I am copin' it and I want you to red it real fast this is it.

If a hottentot tot toought a Hottentot tot to talk e'er the tot could tatter, ough the Hottentot tot he toought to say ough, or naught, or what ough to be toought her.

If to hoat and to loat a Hottentot tot he toought by a Hottentot tot, should the tutor get hot if the Hottentot tot hoat and toat at the Hottentot tot? Now you know mom I thinks that is real clever don't you?

Mom I never before thought a rabbit foot brought good luck--- but I do now cause some girl was lookin' at a not in me coat pocket an I bed one an she tho't it was a mouse and did she run and scream and How !!!!!!!

I took a girl out last nite and it didn't cost very much cause the girl only had a dollar with her. I am econ-ome-cal.

I red this in the noospaper, with his free hand he vaissed his hat bent his head and kissed her on the forehead. I sed to myself sez I will be surely musta been a skiffull hand. Don't you think he ware mom?

I runin down the street the other day and some man had the rem-per-tence to stop me and ast me what I was runnin for an I tole him I was gon't stop a fight an he sed who's fightin'.

An I sed me an another fellar and went.

I learned it took 500 mits to hold a machine together an I tole the teacher by gum it only took one nut to scatter it all over the country. Ain't it so?

They's havin track meets here now. I like it awful well cause they Ain't so charged nothin vter fer em. Agen I am econ-ome-cal.

They is all prectisen fer ar overetta an I don't care if it cause didn't ast me to be in it cause Miss Wittich tole me I had a vocer that us come in handy in shenrock or fre. I needs rakin and cultivatin' I close now Amen

Yur tirely well son Feelin fine Hiram Hoehandie.

P. S.---I red this sign along a road. By order of the select men cows graze by the roadside an ridin' buccles on the sidewalk is hereby forbidden. Purty good eh? P. P. S.---Hes froes cot wings Please look and see will you?

CHAPEL

Chapel was held Monday morning, April 31. Several songs were sung by the student body and the study of the "Constitution," which included Section VIII on Powers Vested in Congress was continued in an interesting manner by Mr. S. T. Rife.

MATH CLUB

On Wednesday evening, May 2, at 7:30, initiation was held at the Ninety Degree club. The executive committee initiated the members and then it was the committee's turn. Some queer looking people were at school on Thursday, as the result as one of the initiation feasts was to wear one's clothes backwards. The members had a great deal of enjoyment from the meeting.

French Club Meeting

On Tuesday evening, May 1, the regular monthly meeting of L'Ami de Movement was held at the home of the president, Margaret Rooney.

The minutes as read by the secretary, Robert Peters, were approved. Following the business session a short program was given:

La Barcarolle---Vocal Duet--- Carl Palm, Eleanor Snyder Le Collier---Reading Faye Puckett Au Claire de la Lune---Vocal Solo Carl Palm

The program was very entertaining. Following the program the members spent an enjoyable time working cross-word puzzles in French, playing bridge and other card games. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served. One of the big features in the evening's entertainment was the unprofessional appearance of Prof. (Kenneth) Ulm the hypnotist. His tricks afforded much enjoyment for the club.

MOTHER'S DAY

Sunday, May 13, is Mother's Day. Why not dig down in those noarded shuffles and buy mother some little remembrance? Mothers are always the best friends of students. Your mother is sacrificing a great deal to keep you in school. Boys and girls, why not save some of the money spent on picture shows and sodas to buy mother something---a memento for the occasion---Mother's Day.

An attempt is being made to show the representative work of various classes.

This week we run compositions from the junior English classes.

HI-Y CLUB

The Circleville Hi-Y club met in the domestic science department Tuesday, May 1, 1928, in regular session. The meeting was called to order and the roll called. Fourteen of the twenty-one members were present. It was voted that the luncheon be paid, after which a lecture was served. Following this an election of officers was held with the following results:

President, Malcolm Russell; vice president, Robert Rector; secretary, Russell Lopez; treasurer, Kenneth Ulm.

After the elections the meeting was closed.

EPSILON MU SIGMA

Epsilon Mu Sigma held their regular weekly meeting at the home of Peggy Courtright, Monday evening, April 30. Following a very important business meeting, games of great interest and enjoyment were played. The delightful refreshments completed what everyone thought a wonderful evening.

"Miss Cherryblossom"

"Miss Cherryblossom, You Stole My Heart." "Miss Cherryblossom," a musical comedy, in three acts, was written by Mary Hewes Dodge and John Wilson Dodge. These two in collaboration have given us an operetta that will call forth from any audience an awed attention by its singular musical numbers, and also a general laugh at the naive remarks of the little Japanese Tea Room proprietor---Kokemo.

The Japanese costumes will be extra-ordinary, for a number of them will be rented and those which are not will be made with much care, and with the help of Miss Pigman.

Professional companies of all kinds have given the above musical comedy, and have met with instant recognition, and the best of criticisms.

This play will go over big, on May 18-19, in Circleville high auditorium. The saying around here runs to this effect---"Circleville Hi-School certainly knows her operettas."

"It may be true and then again we might be mistaken, but if "Miss Cherryblossom" does not give more than half of her audience an attack of heart trouble, we'll quote, the old oriental expressions "They have eyes that see not, they have ears that hear not," says Kenneth Ulm, technician.

"Miss Cherryblossom," has also a well trained orchestra, and this too will go far toward making this Japanese "a howling success." All orchestration has been arranged by Mr. Zaenglein.

Miss Wittich has ably taken care of all music and dancing, and she could make a cow dance, and a nut sing. Now don't misunderstand us, we said she could, not she did. Anyway, the music is good and the dances are intricate, smooth and pleasing.

Mr. Fetherlin has had the responsibility of the "lines" and stage directions. To one of his "noble rank" this is just one step in the ladder. He does condescend to stoop to our level. When an actor is told to act sophisticated, and asks the teacher what he meant by asphyxiated, then Mr. Fetherlin acts as the great Mr. Webster.

Miss Hamilton, and the Opportunity class are making wistaria and Cherryblossoms by the peck, and the directors, and cast of "Miss Cherryblossom" will certainly be indebted to these able assistants.

If you love beauty and harmony you can't afford to miss the aesthetic arrangement of feminine charm, mainly poised and songs you'll be whistling the morning after.

MOTHER

By Alice Roof There is one thing in our house that I would not part with for millions, and that is mother.

To you this woman is possibly no more than a mere acquaintance but to me, she---with her tired face, hair streaked with grey and hands, rough and stiff from many weeks of endless toil is more dear than the most precious gem I ever hope to possess.

We, who have mothers, do not really know what it means to lose a mother. No one is missed more than she.

Truly Lincoln was right when he said, "All that I am or ever hope to be I owe to my mother." Surely the only sad things she ever does is lay down and die for us.

The words of a poem can describe mother more worthily than

M. Is for the million things she gave me. O. Means only that she's growing old. I. Is for the tears she shed to save me. H. Is for her heart of purest gold. E. Is for her eyes with love light shining. M. means night, and night shall always be. Put them all together, they spell MOTHER, a word that means the world to me.

Hike-Basketball Girls

The basketball girls again picked. This time they headed back their way along the road to the Scioto river. Wild flowers were in bloom and the luck in the fields was indeed up to expectations. Part of the company, in their search for "posies" went as far as the "ford" on the Scioto.

All the girls seem to have great fun on these expeditions and they all say that the exercise obtained where-with will help keep them fit and trim for the coming year, that is if they keep up the good work.

AFTERWARD

The faculty of C. H. S., is very glad that so much interest is being shown in certain profitable subjects this year. There has been much good done at these club meetings and we feel that the high school students should uphold such worthy institutions. May the coming school year of 1928-29 continue the good work of gathering together the high school students in circles of real, clean friendship.

A-VISITING

SHALL WE GO MAY 24? The night school, planned for May 24, is solely for the benefit of the parents. By so having the visiting hours in the evening, the parents will be able to attend, otherwise, they could offer a wealth of excuses.

There will be no attempt on the part of the teachers to plan the lessons ahead, or to coach any of the people who are not up in their subjects. These instructors will follow the identical schedule that has been followed for the past years. In this way the parents will get an idea as to the up-to-date methods of pedagogy, and not of a perfect pre-planned, premeditated recitation on part of pupils and teachers.

The students as well as the parents are looking forward to this day for some have a vision especially the freshmen. Each one will strive to out-shine his particular friend. Then, too, this will please his mother, for she can boast to Jimmie's mother about her Johnny having such superior mental tendencies.

If the truth were known, probably Johnnie's mother made a mistake when she said mental, for we who know the ropes would hold it down to a good memory---nothing else.

Seriously, there is a real benefit derived from this visiting period, that will give the parents a reward in part for their sacrifices, and will also act as an incentive to the children so that they may brush up in those subjects in which they are dusty.

This is their view: Everyone wishes to appear at his best before his parents.

SENIORS

In June many of the seniors will have completed part of their school days. They will either start about making a livelihood or will take up education at this point more thoroughly. A great problem of choosing a life work will present itself. This is important because on it depends everything, both financial and social success.

An occupation can not be decided on hurriedly. Much consideration must be given it. It is a good idea to interview a successful business man and get his views and learn from him how to meet such problems as may arise.

Great numbers choose an occupation and find they are unfitted for it. They sometimes struggle through with this or change to another thereby getting a tardy start at it.

A right vocation should be selected at first in order to avoid unhappiness and the great handicap in making a change.

EDUCATIONAL TOUR

Mr. Frank Hughes, representing the Pennsylvania railroad, will be in Circleville high school auditorium, Tuesday evening at 7:30 showing five reels.

There will be two reels of Yellowstone National park, one reel of the Rocky Mountain park, one reel of scenes between Pittsburgh and Washington D. C., and one reel of scenes at the Capital.

The admission is free. All persons are invited and juniors and seniors of the high school and their parents are particularly urged to attend.

Junior-Senior Hikers

The junior and senior girls hiked out W. Main-st. Wednesday this week, and terminated the hike on the other side of the Scioto, which had been planned as a destination. The arrangements for the continuation of the study of nature were again continued.

The interest of the hikers was aroused for the girls had a variety of the real "stuff" to study and analyze then ever before. The course is fastly becoming interesting as the hikers are returning for the summer vacation making themselves known to the

Mothers Honored Guests When

Young Ladies' Class Entertains

THE mothers of the members of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Methodist church were honored guests Friday night when the class met for the regular monthly meeting in the social rooms of the church. Members of the class who could not bring their own mother invited someone's else mother to attend.

The feature of the evening was a Mother's Day play which was given by the entertainment committee. The cast was: Mrs. Harriet Moore, Mrs. Paul Betz; Aunt Jane, Mrs. Moore's sister, Mrs. Ralph Leach; Mrs. Yates, friend of Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Noel Fry; daughters of Mrs. Yates, Mrs. McDill and Mrs. Homer Gleadell; Kathryn, Mrs. Moore's daughter, Mrs. Edwin Grimm; Hal, Mrs. Moore's son, Ned Gruner; Mrs. Bruce, Kathryn's friend, Mrs. Harold Grant; girl friends of Kathryn, Mrs. J. D. Bragg, Mrs. Jesse Dawson, Mrs. Cronley and Mrs. Gladys Wiggins; guests of Mrs. Yates, Mrs. O. L. Cartright and Mrs. Robert Denman.

Following the play, the guests were invited to the tables which were most attractive in a color arrangement of lavender and white. More than fifty persons were seated at the two long tables which extended the length of the dining room. Lovely pink and lavender hyacinths were used in the center of each table.

After refreshments had been served, the Rev. Franklin McElfresh made a short after dinner speech on "The Meaning of Mother's Day."

The members of the committee were: Mrs. Edwin Grimm, chairman, Mrs. Paul Betz, Mrs. Ralph Leach, Mrs. Harold Grant, Mrs. McDill, Mrs. Noel Fry, Mrs. J. D. Bragg and Mrs. Jesse Dawson.

HAVE SURPRISE PARTY AT NEW HOLLAND

A number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Kennedy and daughters, in New Holland Sunday, reminding the former of his birthday anniversary, which fell on the following day. The affair was a complete surprise to Mr. Kennedy and all of those present enjoyed a most delightful day with the honor guest and his family.

Those to enjoy the day were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cook and son, Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schenoltz, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Andrews, Miss Elizabeth Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Graham, Mrs. James H. Kennedy, Ott Dawson and son, Forest, Misses Jeanie Timmons, Ava and Eudora Albert.

MOTHERS HONORED GUESTS WHEN

Young Ladies' Class Entertains

THE mothers of the members of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Methodist church were honored guests Friday night when the class met for the regular monthly meeting in the social rooms of the church. Members of the class who could not bring their own mother invited someone's else mother to attend.

The feature of the evening was a Mother's Day play which was given by the entertainment committee. The cast was: Mrs. Harriet Moore, Mrs. Paul Betz; Aunt Jane, Mrs. Moore's sister, Mrs. Ralph Leach; Mrs. Yates, friend of Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Noel Fry; daughters of Mrs. Yates, Mrs. McDill and Mrs. Homer Gleadell; Kathryn, Mrs. Moore's daughter, Mrs. Edwin Grimm; Hal, Mrs. Moore's son, Ned Gruner; Mrs. Bruce, Kathryn's friend, Mrs. Harold Grant; girl friends of Kathryn, Mrs. J. D. Bragg, Mrs. Jesse Dawson, Mrs. Cronley and Mrs. Gladys Wiggins; guests of Mrs. Yates, Mrs. O. L. Cartright and Mrs. Robert Denman.

Following the play, the guests were invited to the tables which were most attractive in a color arrangement of lavender and white. More than fifty persons were seated at the two long tables which extended the length of the dining room. Lovely pink and lavender hyacinths were used in the center of each table.

After refreshments had been served, the Rev. Franklin McElfresh made a short after dinner speech on "The Meaning of Mother's Day."

The members of the committee were: Mrs. Edwin Grimm, chairman, Mrs. Paul Betz, Mrs. Ralph Leach, Mrs. Harold Grant, Mrs. McDill, Mrs. Noel Fry, Mrs. J. D. Bragg and Mrs. Jesse Dawson.

DERE MOM

Circleville, O., May 5, 1928.
Mr. very dere mom.

I feel quite well agin thank you but O me O my such hair-ible medicine I had to take. It took it but how ! ! ! ! ! If I couldn't find a spoon I took it with a fork. Brite eh? In English we was studin' some more of them there classics and one question was what did Bicker down a valley mean and another was what did He stayed one I put down to Bicker down the valley meant to have an undignified quarrel in a law place among the hills and fer the second I set down an took me pen in hand and in rote down He stayed not fer brake ment. He never stop for a me-can-aye-kal con-tri-vance to reduce speed by means of friction. Now I think them is two of the classiest answers at ever was. I ain't got me paper back yet but spect I'll get bout one hundred per cent. Don't you. Don't you like them words through.

Mom I red sompin in a noospaper the other day an I am copin' it and I want you to red it real fast this is it.

If a hottentot tot tought a Hottentot tot to talk e'er the tot could tatter, ought the Hottentot tot he tought to say ought, or naught, or what ought to be taught her.

If to hoat and to loat a Hottentot tot he tought by a Hottentot tutor, should the tutor get hot if the Hottentot tot hoat and tot at the Hottentot tutor? Now you know mom I thinks that is real clever don't you?

Mom I never before thought a rabbit foot brought good luck—but I do now cause some girl was looking for a not in me coat pocket an I had one an she thot it was a mouse and did she run and scream and How ! ! ! ! !

I took a girl out last nite and it didn't cost very much cause the girl only had a dollar with her. I am econ-ome-cale.

I red this in the noospaper, with his free hand he vaised his hat bent his head and kissed her on the forehead. I sed to myself sez I will be surely musta been a skiffhand hand. Don't you think he ware mom?

I runn down the street the other day and some man had the em-per-tenence to stop me and ast me what I was runnin for an I tole him I was gonta stop a fight an he sed who's fightin?

An I sed me an another fellar and went.

I learned it took 500 nuts to hold a machine together an I tole the teacher by gum it only took one nut to scatter it all over the country. Ain't it so?

Thev's havin track meets here now, I like it awful well cause they Ain't so charged nothin vet fer em. Agen I am econ-omical.

They is all prettisen fer an operetta an I don't care if they didn't ast me to be in it cause Miss Wittich tole me I had a voice thet us come in handy in shewerk or fre. I sed rakin and cultivatin' I close now Amen

Yur tirely well sun
Feelin' fine

CHAPEL

Chapel was held Monday morning, April 30. Several songs were sung by the student body and the study of the "Constitution," which included Section VIII on Powers Vested in Congress was continued in an interesting manner by Mr. S. T. Rife.

MATH CLUB

On Wednesday evening, May 2, at 7:30, initiation was held at the Ninety Degree club. The executive committee initiated the members and then it was the committee's turn. Some queer looking people were at school on Thursday, as the result as one of the initiation feasts was to wear one's clothes backwards. The members had a great deal of enjoyment from the meeting.

French Club Meeting

On Tuesday evening, May 1, the regular monthly meeting of L'Ami de Movement was held at the home of the president, Margaret Rooney.

The minutes as read by the secretary, Robert Peters, were approved. Following the business session a short program was given:

La Barcarolle—Vocal Duet—
Carl Palm, Eleanor Snyder
Le Collier—Reading Faye Puckett
Au Claire de la Lune—Vocal

Solo—Carl Palm
The program was very entertaining. Following the program the members spent an enjoyable time working cross-word puzzles in French, playing bridge and other card games. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served. One of the big features in the evening's entertainment was the unprofessional appearance of Prof. (Kenneth) Ulm the hypnotist. His tricks afforded much enjoyment for the club.

MOTHER'S DAY

Sunday, May 13, is Mother's Day. Why not dig down in those hoarded shelles and buy mother some little remembrance? Mothers are always the best friends of students. Your mother is sacrificing a great deal to keep you in school. Boys and girls, why not save some of the money spent on picture shows and sodas to buy mother something—a momento for the occasion—Mother's Day.

An attempt is being made to show the representative work of various classes.

This week we run compositions from the junior English classes.

HI-Y CLUB

The Circleville Hi-Y club met in the domestic science department Tuesday, May 1, 1928, in regular session. The meeting was called to order and the roll called. Fourteen of the twenty-one members were present. It was voted that the luncheon bills be paid, after which, a luncheon was served. Following this an election of officers was held with the following results:

President, Malcolm Russell; vice president, Robert Rector; secretary, Russell Lape; treasurer, Kenneth Ulm.

After the elections the meeting was closed.

EPSILON MU SIGMA

Epsilon Mu Sigma held their regular weekly meeting at the home of Peggy Courtwright, Monday evening, April 30. Following a very important business meeting, games of great interest and enjoyment were played. The delightful refreshments completed what everyone thought a wonderful evening.

"Miss Cherryblossom"

"Miss Cherryblossom, You Stole My Heart." "Miss Cherryblossom," a musical comedy, in three acts, was written by Mary Hewes Dodge and John Wilson Dodge. These two in collaboration have given us an operetta that will call forth from any audience an awed attention by its singular musical numbers, and also a general laugh at the naive remarks of the little Japanese Tea Room proprietor—Kokemo.

The Japanese costumes will be extra-ordinary, for a number of them will be rented and those which are not will be made with much care, and with the help of Miss Pigman.

Professional companies of all kinds have given the above musical comedy, and have met with instant recognition, and the best of criticisms.

This play will go over big, on May 18-19, in Circleville high auditorium. The saying around here runs to this effect—"Circleville Hi-School certainly knows her operettas."

"It may be true and then again we might be mistaken, but if 'Miss Cherryblossom' does not give more than half of her audience an attack of heart trouble, we'll quote, the old oriental expressions. 'They have eyes that see not, they have ears that hear not,' says Kenneth Ulm, technician."

"Miss Cherryblossom," has also a well trained orchestra, and this too will go far toward making this Japanese "a howling success." All orchestration has been arranged by Mr. Zaenglein.

Miss Wittich has ably taken care of all music and dancing, and she could make a cow dance, and a nut sing. Now don't misunderstand us, we said she could, not she did. Anyway, the music is good and the dances are intricate, smooth and pleasing.

Mr. Fetherlin has had the responsibility of the "lines" and stage directions. To one of his "noble rank" this is just one step in the ladder. He does condescend to stoop to our level. When an actor is told to act sophisticated, and asks the teacher what he meant by asphyxiated, then Mr. Fetherlin acts as the great Mr. Webster.

Miss Hamilton, and the Opportunity class are making wistaria and Cherryblossoms by the peck, and the directors, and cast of "Miss Cherryblossom" will certainly be indebted to these able assistants.

If you love beauty and harmony you can't afford to miss the aesthetic arrangement of feminine charm, manly poise and songs you'll be whistling the morning after.

MOTHER

By Alice Roff

There is one thing in our house that I would not part with for millions, and that is mother.

To you this woman is possibly no more than a mere acquaintance but to me, she—with her tired face, hair streaked with grey and hands, rough and stiff from many weeks of endless toil is more dear than the most precious gem I ever hope to possess.

We, who have mothers, do not really know what it means to lose a mother. No one is missed more than she.

Truly Lincoln was right when he said, "All that I am or ever hope to be I owe to my mother." Surely the only sad thing she ever does is lay down and die for us.

The words of a poem can describe mother more worthily than I.

M. Is for the million things she gave me.

O. Means only that she's growing old.

T. Is for the tears she shed to save me.

H. Is for her heart of purest gold

E. Is for her eyes with love light shining.

R. means right, and right she'll always be.

Put them all together, they spell MOTHER, a word that means the world to me.

Hike-Basketball Girls

The basketball girls again hiked. This time they leisurely took their way along the road to the Scioto river. Wild flowers were in bloom, and the luck in the fields was indeed up to expectations. Part of the company, in their search for "posies," went as far as the "ford" on the Scioto.

All the girls seem to have great fun on these expeditions, and they all say that the exercise obtained where-with will help keep them fit and trim for the coming year—that is if they keep up the good work.

AFTERWARD

The faculty of C. H. S. is very glad that so much interest is being shown in certain profitable subjects this year. There has been much good done at these club meetings and we feel that the high school students should uphold such worthy institutions. May the coming school year of 1928-29 continue the good work of gathering together the high school students in circles of real, clean friendship.

A-VISITING

SHALL WE GO MAY 24?

The night school, planned for May 24, is solely for the benefit of the parents. By so having the visiting hours in the evening, the parents will be able to attend, otherwise, they could offer a wealth of excuses.

There will be no attempt on the part of the teachers to plan the lessons ahead, or to coach any of the people who are not up in their subjects. These instructors will follow the identical schedule that has been followed for the past years. In this way the parents will get an idea as the up-to-date methods of pedagogy, and not of a perfect pre-planned, premeditated recitation on part of pupils and teachers.

The students as well as the parents are looking forward to this day for some have a vision—especially the freshmen. Each one will strive to out-shine his particular friend. Then, too, this will please his mother, for she can boast to Jimmie's mother about her Johnny having such superior mental tendencies.

If the truth were known, probably Johnnie's mother made a mistake when she said mental, for we who know theropes would hold it down as a good memory—nothing else.

Seriously, there is a real benefit derived from this visiting period, that will give the parents a reward in part for their sacrifices, and will also act as an incentive to the children so that they may brush up in those subjects in which they are dusty.

This is their view: Everyone wishes to appear at his best before his parents.

SENIORS

In June many of the seniors will have completed part of their school days. They will either start about making a livelihood or will take up education at this point more thoroughly. A great problem of choosing a life work will present itself. This is important because on it depends everything, both financial and social success.

An occupation can not be decided on hurriedly. Much consideration must be given it. It is a good idea to interview a successful business man and get his views and learn from him how to meet such problems as may arise.

Great numbers choose an occupation and find they are unfitted for it. They sometimes struggle through with this or change to another thereby getting a tardy start at it.

A right vocation should be selected at first in order to avoid unhappiness and the great handicap in making a change.

EDUCATIONAL TOUR

Mr. Frank Hughes, representing the Pennsylvania railroad, will be in Circleville high school auditorium, Tuesday evening at 7:30 showing five reels.

There will be two reels of Yellow Stone National park, one reel of scenes between Pittsburgh and Washington D. C., and one reel of scenes at the Capital.

The admission is free. All persons are invited and juniors and seniors of the high school and their parents are particularly urged to attend.

Junior-Senior Hikers

The junior and senior girls hiked out W. Main-st. Wednesday this week, and terminated the hike on the other side of the Scioto, which had been planned as their destination. The arrangements for the continuation of the study of nature were again carried on.

The interest of the hikers was aroused for the girls had a larger variety of the real "stuff" to study and analyze than ever before. This course is fastly becoming interesting as the flowers and birds returning for the summer are making themselves known once more.

Mothers Honored Guests When Young Ladies' Class Entertains

THE mothers of the members of the Young Ladies' Bible class of the Methodist church were honored guests Friday night when the class met for the regular monthly meeting in the social rooms of the church. Members of the class who could not bring their own mother invited someone's else mother to attend.

The feature of the evening was a Mother's Day play which was given by the entertainment committee. The cast was: Mrs. Harriet Moore, Mrs. Paul Betz; Aunt Jane, Mrs. Moore's sister, Mrs. Ralph Leach; Mrs. Yates, friend of Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Noel Fry; daughters of Mrs. Yates, Mrs. McDill and Mrs. Homer Gleadell; Kathryn, Mrs. Moore's daughter, Mrs. Edwin Grimm; Hal, Mrs. Moore's son, Ned Griner; Mrs. Bruce, Kathryn's friend, Mrs. Harold Grant; girl friends of Kathryn, Mrs. J. D. Bragg, Mrs. Jesse Dawson, Mrs. Cromley and Mrs. Gladys Wiggins; guests of Mrs. Yates, Mrs. O. L. Cartwright and Mrs. Robert Denman.

Following the play, the guests were invited to the tables which were most attractive in a color arrangement of lavender and white. More than fifty persons were seated at the two long tables which extended the length of the dining room. Lovely pink and lavender hyacinths were used in the center of each table.

BETTER HOMES MOVEMENT

LAST YEAR, as the result of the Better Homes movement carried on the last week in April, committees for carrying out these ideas were appointed in nearly 4000 communities. Some days ago returns had been received indicating that 4400 such committees have been appointed, and a good many more no doubt will be heard from. So this movement seems likely to amount to something very substantial.

Committees in some places have selected designs for homes costing from $3000 to $10,000, and will erect model dwellings and furnish them as an object lesson to their people. They will thus demonstrate that a home can be pleasant and attractive and artistic, without costing a lot of money.

It is to be hoped that the people of Ohio will realize that this movement is accomplishing some very decided results, and that a rapid improvement is being made in the appearance and comfort of the homes of the nation. A community where there is lack of interest in such movements is likely to suffer by comparison with those that are more progressive.

Living in a nice home has a tonic effect on people's morale. They feel more self respect, more confidence, they are given incentives to work for and production will be more successful and business more prosperous in such a community.

It is difficult to get the best results in a town where a large part of the people live in unattractive and unpleasant homes. It seems to detract from their power of achievement and create a depressing influence. In many places business interests have taken hold to provide attractive homes for their workpeople, or for the wage-earning population, and they would generally testify that such use of capital was effective in promoting business prosperity.

THE PEOPLE WHO VOTE

A READER of the Dayton Daily News writes to that paper a letter maintaining that a far higher percentage of qualified voters go to the polls in American than is commonly supposed.

He points out that whereas 57,000,000 citizens are theoretically entitled to vote in national elections, many of these are, for all practical purposes, disfranchised. He says there are nearly 12,000,000 negroes who do not have the vote; estimates that 8,000,000 other citizens lose their votes because they are "floaters," or transients and accordingly do not have settled residences; and holds that probably 10 per cent of the 57,000,000 are kept away from the polls on election day by illness, accidents or sudden contingencies they cannot control.

Looked at in this light, our national election figures are more encouraging. Of course, the man's figures may be open to criticism. But he at least presents a new angle from which to view the situation.

GOOD NEWS FROM CHICAGO
NEWS from Chicago of late has been highly encouraging. For a time it did seem as if the second city in the nation was utterly indifferent to the alliance of vice and politics that gave it an evil reputation throughout the country. But it seems that was not so. Decency was, after all, in the majority; better yet, decency was willing to shake off its apathy and go to the polls, thereby whipping one of the most powerful political machines in America.

It doesn't matter in the least that Senator Deneen and his cohorts may not be a group of spotless crusaders. The big thing is that the Small-Crowe outfit was decisively and thoroughly beaten. Chicago has proved that the rest of the country can no longer fasten the "corrupt and contented" label on her.

Some people seem to interpret copyright to mean the right to copy.

FORTY ODD YEARS

BLIND

For forty odd years
Or so
And how was this
Dear old soul
To know
That the rose was
Red
Or the sky is Blue
Or the thousand things
That we know
Are true,
But I know she smiles
So she must have Found
That God and his Blessings
On earth abound;
And here is the spring
And I wonder how
She can enjoy
This rebirth
Now,
The sun, and the
Million stars
At night
And somehow
It doesn't seem
Quite right—
But I caught her
Smiling
Again today—
This blind old soul
Across the Way—
And what we mean to say
Is,
Sometimes the darkness
Brings us light
When it seems we're
Lost
In the world's great Fight;
Sometimes it takes
A cloudy day
To light the path
Of the only way;
And I sometimes
Wonder
When folks are
Blind
If they really Think
The world's Unkind!

There'll never be a greater appreciation of life until there's a greater knowledge.

SPRING, BUT—!

Now Spring has come to our house,
The house is torn to pieces and
We're havin' a helluva time!

IT ISN'T REASONABLE

There has been some progress toward human intelligence, despite our occasional impressions to the contrary, and whenever we look at the girls' heels, we reflect: Well, anyhow, they don't pierce their ears anymore — Bob Ryder in Ohio State Journal.

Girls are always being so unjustly accused but this is going too far, and never have we seen a girl's ears pierced by her heels—Ema Spencer in Newark Advocate.

We've seen about everything else, Ema, and can expect that now about any time — Nor man W. Ralston, this column.

Never have we seen a girl's ear being pierced by her heels; but we've seen many a one in modern dress who certainly had little intervening to prevent a stunt if her heels had suddenly gone in for acrobatics.—Haitch, the Lady from West Palm Beach, Fla.

One thing, they ought to make all the politicians seeking offices enter an elimination contest, ousting all those who can't hit the high notes in the "Star Spangled Banner."

Everyone in this world seems to think they'd get along all right if everyone else would let them do everything they ever wanted to.

We often wonder what some of the short dresses think of some of the legs they ought to cover.

Twenty years from now we'll be worrying about finding a place to land, not to park.

Dolores Costello in "OLD SAN FRANCISCO" is a Warner Bros. picture.

SYNOPSIS
The broad acres of Don Hernandez Vasquez and his beautiful granddaughter Dolores are coveted by Buckwell, San Francisco boss. His lawyer, Brandon, fails to make Vasquez sell, Brandon's nephew, Terry, loves Dolores, Buckwell plans to vote Vasquez land grant. Vasquez won't listen and tells him Dolores must marry young Spaniard. Heartbroken, Terry tries to forget her by a wild night along Barbary Coast. Dolores seeks Terry's aid in saving ranch, but returns home disillusioned when she finds him on drunken party. Buckwell witnesses her visit and, intrigued, goes to Vasquez ranch.

Following her with his eyes, Buckwell gloated over her graceful figure and charming youthful innocence. It had been a long time since he had taken such a woman. He was partly at himself and partly in anticipation of the pleasures that would be his within the hour.

Upon leaving the room Dolores lost no time in seeking their only servant. "It is necessary that I go to town. Kindly look after Grandfather and if he should have another attack try and reach me some way—I shall be at the Crystal Palace and the Court House with Senator Buckwell."

The old peon stood aghast with mouth open at the mere thought of a daughter of the Vasquez going out in this unconventional manner. He crossed himself devoutly and implored the Good Mother to watch over his mistress—two trips to the city in as many days! It was unheard of.

But Dolores had not waited to see what he thought. Quickly possessing herself of a shawl and parasol she hastened back to the living room and stood looking at her Grandfather with a mingling of love, pity and regret that she must leave. Gently lifting his foot to a stool, so that he was stretched out in a more comfortable position, she spread a soft blanket over his knees, placed a pillow at his side and after a light kiss on his brow turned away to hide the tears. He was all she had in the world and he felt so miserable!

"I am ready," she announced, joining Buckwell at the mantel where he had been examining the Vasquez sword and trophies with utter contempt.

"Ready?" he repeated as if preoccupied. "Ah, yes, to be sure!" He turned toward her and his eyes opened in surprise.

"Ready indeed—ready for him!" he thought to himself. She was far more beautiful than the most famous celebrity of the city and in addition to being lovely it was plain to see that life had taught her nothing of the ways of men. Controlling his rampant, hidden thoughts, Buckwell finished pleasantly. "Then shall we leave?"

"Yes, please," agreed Dolores, and she permitted Buckwell to assist her down the short steps and into his carriage. It had been at the side of the road, awaiting his signal for quite some time.

Back in the living room Vasquez slept soundly and on the table the open lid of the strong box revealed the fact that the age old land grant documents were gone. They were in Buckwell's pocket and as the carriage jogged along he decided that they, as well as the young girl by his side, were to remain in his possession—as long as he wanted them.

CHAPTER X

The Trap Is Sprung
Chris Buckwell did not own a carriage. He felt that his whereabouts could not be so easily spotted when he summoned a public hack to carry him to appointments.

But he always insisted upon immaculate modern equipment and fast horses. He found the latter far more satisfactory than the automobile which was growing in popularity with his political contemporaries.

Dolores' second trip to the City was consequently effected in less time than the regrettable experience of her call on Terry.

"Do you come into San Francisco often?" inquired Buckwell watching closely the girl's narrowed eyes. "Grandfather has never permitted such trips," she replied truthfully after a moment's hesitation. "You see it is customary for Spanish women to remain at home."

She had decided that the hideous experience of the Poodle Dog was her own secret—she was too ashamed of the incident to ever mention it to anyone.

"And do Spanish girls always adhere to their native customs and paternal dictates?" asked Buckwell in a tone that invited confidence. He was curious about why she went to Frisco on the previous night. Buckwell's abhorred reticence in a woman.

"I don't know," replied Dolores uneasily, "but I prefer to remain at the hacienda—Oh, you can save it for me!"

"With your help, my dear, I am sure that your Grandfather will be able to spend the rest of his days there."

Buckwell's hidden meaning was lost on Dolores. How could she have guessed that he wanted her in return for relinquishing his plans to seize the estate?

"It is so good of you to help me!" she said warmly, and for the first time relaxed her rigid position in the corner of the carriage.

Buckwell noticed and with an effort restrained himself from grasping her graceful hands and drawing her toward him. There was a time and place for everything and both would come a little later.

CIRCLEVILLE 25 YEARS AGO

May 5, 1903.

Geo. Roth, ex-agent of the Adams Express Co., Middletown, was the victim of a practical joke yesterday; when his trunk arrived at this end of the line it resembled a curiosity shop, as it was decorated with old shoes, tin cans, etc. The office force must have thought George was on his wedding trip.

HOLLYWOOD, May 5.—An national survey among theatrical architects has just revealed that the United States will build 251 theaters this year at an approximate cost of $68,938,000.

The same check shows that Europe, including Great Britain and the Baltic States, will build more than 600 new theaters.

In America, Illinois heads the list in amount of money to be spent, for it will build thirteen houses at an estimated cost of $13,110,000, an average of more than a million for each!

Abroad the bulk of the building will be done in Germany, with England second and France third. Germany built 280 houses last year, while but two were erected in Belgium.

When it comes to theaters, Hollywood is well equipped. It has three very large and fine motion picture houses: Grauman's Chinese and Grauman's Egyptian and the new and costly Warner theater, to open next week. Then, in addition, it has four excellent houses where stage attractions are played. There are the usual number of "neighborhood" cinemas.

Workers in the many studios like nothing better than, after a hard day making pictures, to go to the theater at night and see one.

What between Europe and the beaches Hollywood will be a deserted community this summer. Pola Negri has just opened her beach home. Bebe Daniels, of course, lives there the year round. Clara Bow has taken a home near the surf and George Bancroft has just purchased the Joseph Schenck ocean front mansion.

Florence Vidor announces she will take a three-months' trip through Europe, sailing May 5. Ernest Torrance, his wife and son, have left for Scotland. Ramon Novarro is going to England and Evelyn Brent plans a trip to London later this fall. Adolphe Menjou is now in Paris. Louis Lighton and Hope Loring (Mrs. Lighton), who are best known for having written the screen play for "Wings" are now in Spain. Many, many others have announced their intention of the trans-atlantic trip this season. But none will go if picture work interferes. That always comes first.

The young leading men of the film colony have, probably in mutual self defense, taken to the use of battered coupes and roadsters of the small cab class for driving about. Charles Farrell, Gary Cooper, Lane Chandler, Ben Lyon, James Hall, Johnny Mack Brown and Richard Arlen each have a car of this type.

At the opening of a new picture at the Carthy Circle theater a night or two ago there was a big crowd of sightseers and star-gazers assembled. Comment was whispered excitedly as the big limousines drove up, discharging emerald women and silk-labeled men. Suddenly there was a rattle and a big puff of oil smoke as a small coupe skidded to a stop at the curb. The uniformed carriage man opened the door. Out stepped Richard Arlen, with a big smile and a wave of his hand to the crowd.

He got the biggest hand of the evening.

Seen here and there on the Boulevard, Vilma Banky and husband, Rod La Rocque, greeting friends on their arrival from Budapest. Erich von Stroheim stepping from a barber shop, his close-cropped hair smartly on end. Fred Thomson, the western star, inspecting his new block of store buildings, Douglas MacLean having a streetcorner story conference with Ernest Vajda, the writer. Al Christie, in polo outfit heading his roadster for the Midway club. Emil Jennings arm-in-arm with Lother Mendes, who will direct his next picture. They worked together in Europe. Charles Chaplin going into Henry's for a noon breakfast. Three extra girls trying to make a group of tourists think they are Norma Talmadge, Esther Ralston and Norma Shearer.

Travis Banton, the man who designs all of the wardrobe for the Paramount stars, has just returned to Hollywood from three weeks spent in the fashionable haunts of the East. I saw him yesterday. He had this to say: "The 'crisp silhouette' is now smart. Clinging lines are not desirable. Boyish simplicity is also passing as the vogue, and feminine sophistication is the seasonal trend. Waistlines are higher and skirt hems are dropping. The uneven hem is the thing for afternoon and evening."

The week's production news featured the announcements that Arthur Lake, who, with Mary Brian, was featured in "Harold Teen," is to be starred in a picture "Horace of Hollywood." Emil Jennings' next release will be titled "The Street of Sin." Monty Bell has hired every available newspaper man in Los Angeles and Hollywood for court room "press section" scenes in a new picture. Esther Ralston's next picture will be "Sawdust Paradise," written by George Watters the man who wrote the play, "Burlesque." The latest Adolphe Menjou picture has been titled "His Tiger Lady." Victor Schertzinger, the composer-director, has signed a new contract with Paramount. He is the man who wrote the piece, "Marcheta."

Motion picture recruit more work from newspaper field than from any other one profession. It is safe to say that six out of ten directors, scenarists, supervisors and title writers, at some time or other, have been in newspaper work.

The two endeavors have much in common. Both report the drama, the tragedy, the comedy that go to make up human existence. Both are founded on the written word. The "story" is their life blood. Both deal with timely subjects.

In Hollywood's largest studio there are 62 former newspaper men and women. Most of them are writers of either originals, adaptations or scripts. Several are directors.

In the latter group is Luther Reed, now directing Esther Ralston's new picture, "Sawdust Paradise." He was once ship's news reporter for the New York Herald. Malcolm St. Clair and Gregor La Cava, who has just completed a Ralston picture, "Half a Bride," are former newspaper cartoonists. Frank Tuttle, who recently directed Richard Dix in "Easy Come, Easy Go," was at one time an editor of Vanity Fair and before that in newspaper work.

Newspapers furnish more talent to the films. George Marion Jr., the scribbler of subtitles, yesterday revealed to me the source of his seemingly inexhaustible supply of witticisms. "I read every line of every newspaper I can lay my hands on," he admitted, "and I jot down suggestions as I find them."

Marion must find many of them, for he has 75 pictures in the 16 months that he has been under contract to Paramount.

THIS AND THAT

world of surgery is perhaps the most modern, keenest organization of men ever fostered in this country. They are clever men, striving to prolong life, to relieve suffering, to make the operation room and the hospital less painful, yet they seem to be less appreciated than a trans-oceanic flyer. All of which reminds us, what is Circleville doing about accepting that Frank Berger gift of $30,000 with which to start a fund for a new hospital for the city and county?

A MISER

Paul Schelley, 79, died a miser in Philadelphia, Pa. When he was alive, he tied his socks together with strings, wore tattered old clothes, shaved himself with a knife and tallow soap. He seldom spent money. The miser often boasted: "I can make a wash-boiler of soup for 15 cents that feeds me for a couple of weeks." Police found him sitting dead in a chair in his home after he had been missed for 27 days. They likewise found a fortune in bonds and money of $250,000 in the little old hut where he existed. And the treasure hunt for more is going on while an effort is being made to locate relatives. Men who live, amass fortunes, secret it and died without any purpose for it, just as they lived a purposeless life, are seldom missed. They have taken away from the world, but have failed to give anything back to it, but misery and unhappiness. Men are sitting back in their chairs and counting their dollars today while their home town wants something, is in dire need of help, or while their fellowmen could be made so happy through some little token. And they forget they cannot take their money with them in death, and even if they could where they'll go it probably would melt.

Roman God Gave Name

Ancient Rome, from which we obtained the names of our months—as we got the names of our days from our Saxon forefathers—first thought of calling our first month January, we are told, in 672 B. C. It marked a turn of the year, when the winter solstice ended, the earth turned from its short day period toward the longer days just about to begin. Janus, an old Roman god, was the god of beginnings. Because war was man's chief business then, he especially represented the beginning of war. His temple in Rome was always open, while the country was at war, and closed when it was at peace, which last was not very often, though it did happen in the reign of Augustus Caesar at the time when our Savior was born.—Montreal Family Herald.

In Conference

There was a tired business man, a member of that busy clan, that shields itself from prying eyes behind that old, old alibi—"In conference."

He rested in his office chair and ducked a lot of toil and care and smoked cigars in sweet content, and thus his busy hours were spent—"In conference."

Came anxious strangers by the score to camp outside his office door, and angrily they went their way, for he was busy all the day—"In conference."

And so he died and at the gate an angel bade him stand and wait and said to him with frowning brow—"St. Peter's mighty busy now—"In conference."—Vancouver Province.

Rocky Mountain Flowers

One of the great charms in the national parks in the Canadian Rockies is the variety and beauty of the wild flowers. At first thought one would perhaps not expect to find an abundant and interesting flora amid the higher altitudes, but, strange as it may seem, the wild-flower gardens which bloom above the clouds in the upper regions are among the most beautiful in the world. Over 500 varieties have been identified by botanists, and their exquisite color, fragrance, and delicate loveliness add the last touch to the charm of that wonderful region.

Colorado Cattle

Cattle did not originate in Colorado. The Spaniards brought them into their settlements in the Southwest and some into the southern parts of the state, but these cattle joined the buffalo and had disappeared when the settlement of Colorado began. The gold discoveries, attracting many thousands, and other towns called for meat which resulted in the driving in of the Texas cattle or "long horns." That was the beginning of the industry.

People Never Part to Perforate

Perforated coins were favored in the United States various efforts were made to make them. The first States coin with a perforator was a gold dollar in 1840, which had a sun in the middle of the planche, the forerunner of the gold issued by the United States in 1849. The coin was engraved from dies. The States coin with a perforator was issued from the Philadelphia mint in 1850 and was denominated of 1 cent, about the size of the bit now in use.

At that time the large, toned copper cent was in circulation and the perforator received the name of "dime." The designer reasoned means of the perforation could be distinguished from the dime. Another cent issued the same year two rings in the field, words "Cent, one-tenth silver" reverse showed an olive around the perforation. The mint authorities and design a coin that would all requirements, and they were struck with both perfect centers in silver, nickel and composition in varieties in all, without the various metals, but no designs was favored by the mint authorities, and coins they were never put in circulation.

Marriage No Light Ceremony

Getting married is no business in China. Ann Strong, writing in Harper's, gives the following of Chinese wedding customs related to her by a Chinese. "If a marriage is honored in China, the parents of the bride will pay the money needed to send notes from the father. On such a date will marry the daughter of and-so. Your presence is at the feast! But it is much to him, for at the all honor is shown to the who will now be a grade since his son has taken."

"But if the marriage be parents' consent, then the folks cannot be at home wedding day. A proper marriage—it really cannot be without the parents; other is disorder. There are other ways for young folk to wait and beseech the. Even if they do not like still they love their son, and see him always unhappy, to take any other woman give them grandsons, in they will often give way."

WOMAN AS JAY-WALKERS WORRY POLICE OF PARIS PLAN NEW ORDINANCE

PARIS, May 5—Women are the worst "jaywalkers," according to reports coming from the Paris police trying new schemes of traffic regulation. They don't seem to want to cross streets and avenues at the fixed points, but persist in taking the shortest cuts across squares and open place of the capital.

Monsieur Chiappe, well known Prefect of Police in Paris, has recently issued an ordinance composed of six articles for pedestrians. He has finally concluded that the man in the street, in these days of crowded thoroughfares, must be disciplined as well as drivers of the car. Important points in the new regulations are that there is to be no dallying the streets; cross-roads are to be crossed diagonally, and all streets must be crossed only with the traffic has been baited.

Large cities have publications that cannot handle every personal item in detail like the small newspaper whose publisher knows everyone in his community by their first name and that is the reason for the increased reader interest. That is that Mary Jones' baby is sick means more to a small community than the death of a senator of a neighboring state unless that senator is well known in the community in which the comparison is drawn.

ASHVILLE WINS ORATORY AND WALNUT IN TRACK

2,500 ATTEND PICKAWAY'S BIG FIELD AND ORATORICAL DAY HELD ON WALNUT FIELD

PICKAWAY-CO track, field and oratorical day starting Friday morning and ending Friday night was observed on a typical May day with a crowd of 2,500 attending the various events held at the Walnut-twp school.

Walnut-twp boys won the track and field meet while Miss Lorraine Peters, choosing as her subject, "Mother," won first place in the oratorical contest held in Chautauqua Tent at the school Friday night. Miss Peters represented the Ashville school. New Holland girls won the girl's athletic events.

In the oratorical contest the centralized schools of Jackson, Monroe, New Holland, Deercreek, Muhlenberg, Drby, Pickaway, Saltcreek, Perry, Ashville, Scioto and Washington were contenders for the honors.

New Holland has won the speaking event for five years, but this year the Ashville speaker topped the honors. Miss Peters chose an ideal subject with "Mother's Day" just a week off, and she was complimented for her delivery and the manner in which she handled her subject.

Miss Medrith Redman, Darby-twp, won second place with her oration, "Seed, Blossom and Fruit." Her subject indicated that she had given considerable time and study to its preparation. Third honors went to D. DeWitt Bach, Jackson-twp, his subject being "The Roots of the Constitution." His topic was most interesting, showing a wide preparation on historical subject matter.

TURNER INDIVIDUAL STAR
The individual stars of the track meet were Turner of Perry who took first place in three dashes and Dunkle of Walnut who scored 16 1-4 points.

It was reported that sickness handicapped a number of the schools.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
WRITER, BRUCE, COOPER, EDICER

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
Winning the Davis Cup back from France this year appears less and less the hopeless task many expected it to be following the victory of "The Four Horsemen of the Seine" at Germantown last September.

In ending the seven-year reign of the United States as the monarch of the tennis world, France appeared to have a combination capable of holding the Davis Cup for many years. The defeat brought home the sad realization that "Little Bill" Johnston was through as a factor in Davis Cup play and that "Bib Bill" Tilden was no more the invincible player foreign stars once found him.

Black clouds continued to hover over America's tennis outlook when the U. S. L. T. A. and Tilden clashed over several issues pertaining to plans for regaining the tennis trophy. Tilden favored challenging in the European zone and threatened to desert the American team if his wishes were not obeyed.

A truce was effected with Tilden after installation of the new officers, Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the Davis Cup committee, and Samuel H. Collom, president of the U. S. L. T. A.

Tilden was appointed captain of the 1928 Davis Cup team and he immediately began laying the foundation for a formidable combination to attempt to bring the Davis Cup back to his country. Tilden's work has been well done so far. The team which conquered Mexico in the first American zone match was composed of Tilden, John Hennessey of Indianapolis, Arnold Jones of Providence, R. I., Wilmer Allison of Fort Worth, Texas, and Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., alternate. Only Tilden had ever participated in a Davis cup match before.

Tilden won two singles matches, Allison and Hennessey one singles match each and Tilden and Jones the doubles match, making a clean sweep against Mexico.

America's chances of victory are not alone enhanced by the splendid showing of the youngsters, but by the unfortunate turn of affairs which has weakened the French team.

Rene La Coste was forced to abandon practice by a severe attack of grippe and only lately returned to the courts on the Riviera after a long layoff. La Coste also had trouble with his old bugaboo, neuritis of the elbow.

Several of the French tennis experts have expressed the fear that Jan Borotra and Jacques Brugnon will not be at the top of their games this summer because of the long tour in which the pair played in South America, the United States, Australia and other countries last fall and winter.

"Pere" La Coste, father of the French ace, believes the United States will win back the Davis Cup, but not this year.

"Tilden has the right idea, youth will win, if not this year then in two or three," Mons. La Coste said. "I do not expect France to hold the Davis Cup longer than three years at the most."

"I wish France had twenty such players as those Tilden has to choose from. Unfortunately for us when we have named Boussus and De Bubelet, there are no young prospects left. As long as Borotra's legs hold out and Brugnon keeps his health, France's hopes will remain high, but our four are getting older every day."

"I hope the United States meets France in the Challenge Round, but I shall regret that 'Little Bill' Johnston will not be here. For I have always admired him as a player. It was always a puzzle to me how a tiny man could hit a ball so hard. Rene used to tell me that Johnston hit the ball harder than any man whom he ever played. His shots were like cannonballs."

"Pere" La Coste is largely responsible for France's possession of the Davis Cup. Only his refusal to allow Rene to quit tennis to enter the automobile business kept the French ace on the courts during the last few years.

BABE'S MARK 357

NEW YORK May 5—After a poor start, Babe Ruth now boasts the respectable batting average of .357. In four times at bat against the White Sox yesterday he got four hits, including his sixth homer of the season. Joe Hauser of the Athletics, who has replaced Lou Gehrig as the Babe's home run rival, also got one and now has five homers.

BRITISH AHEAD

JOLIET, Ill. May 5—C. C. "Cross country" Pyle's bevy of unionists celebrated their ninth week of their toughened tour en-tourage by moving out of here for Chicago, a 40 mile stalk through heavy traffic today.

Peter Gavuzzi, youthful Britisher who has covered the 2359.1 miles from Los Angeles in 384:32:08 held a lead of six hours 58 seconds over Andy Payne, youthful Oklahoman and his nearest rival.

Health in Repose

We are living in a day of rapid movement and unrest. Most of us are on the go constantly. We get too little rest and relaxation. Rest is as necessary as food or air. To know how to rest successfully is to know the way to good health. Learn to relax. Cultivate repose. A period of rest each day is as necessary as a time for exercise. The purpose of the body helps to keep you in good physical condition. Exchange.

U. S. GENERAL WINS $15,000 PRIZE

Brig. Gen. John T. Thompson of the U. S. Army, who has just been awarded at London the prize of $15,000 by the British War Office for the most satisfactory rifle submitted for adoption by the British Army. The new rifle, which is said to fire as accurately and nearly twice as fast as any rifle now in use, was designed by the American general, who was Director of Armaments of the United States Army during the late war.

Hope to Find Bones of Cardinal Wolsey

Leicester abbey, where Cardinal Wolsey told the abbot he had "come to lay his bones," is to undergo transformation. For many years the abbey grounds have been used as a farm, but now they are to be laid out as gardens and for recreation. Pierre Van Passen, writing in the Atlanta Constitution, tells us, "Wolsey's body was laid in an unknown grave, and it is thought that the excavations necessary to adapt the grounds to their new use, some trace of it may be found, but as there is no record of an of the cardinal's possessions being buried with him the search seems likely to end in failure. One fact about Wolsey is probably not widely known. When he was at the height of his power he employed an Italian sculptor to make a magnificent sarcophagus upon which he should lie. Leicester monks laid him to rest in plain earth and Henry VIII sequestered the sarcophagus with the rest of the cardinal's vast possessions. The sarcophagus remained government property and idle until 1895, when it was used to cover the body of Nelson after his remains were brought from Trafalgar. The man who said that England expected every man to do his duty, and led them in so doing, rests under the covering prepared for the man who was laid away and ruined by overweening ambition."

Didn't Have Nerve to Cook the Little Pig

A Cleveland housewife who was entertaining some very special friends from out of the city, wanted to have a dinner that would linger in their memory for some time to come. What could be nicer, she thought, than a roast suckling pig?

Accordingly the little pig was sent home from the butcher's, unwrapped and laid on the kitchen table, where her small son caught sight of it and burst into tears.

"Don't cook that dear little piggie," he wailed, disconsolately.

His mother sent him from the kitchen and picked the pig up to carry it across the room. "In that moment," she reports, "my courage failed me. There was something so much like a little baby about that poor little pig that I set it down in a hurry. I realized then and there that I didn't have the nerve to cook it. Like my son, I wiped the tears out of my eyes and put the 'dear little piggie' out of my mind forever."

GRAND THEATRE INSTALLS SENTRY SAFETY CONTROL

The film fire danger is over the Grand Theatre.

Mr. H. D. Brant, of the National Theatre Supply Co., of Cincinnati, has installed a Sentry Safety Control on each of the new projectors recently purchased. With this device on the new projectors it is impossible to have a fire and loss of life and equipment.

The Sentry Control is so constructed and attached to the projector that the light obstruct shutter acts as an emergency control should the film break, shaft bind, current fluctuates a motor loses speed, if the breaks or the broken sprocket holes in the film cause a creep loop.

This safety device is used by the Wm. Fox film circuits and many other large picture houses in the country and is approved by the National Fire Underwriters. Mr. Brantman will be pleased to show this control to any who desires to see its operation.

Being happy is just a matter of selecting an outfit small enough to fit your order.

ASHVILLE WINS ORATORY AND WALNUT IN TRACK

2,500 ATTEND PICKAWAY'S BIG FIELD AND ORATORICAL DAY HELD ON WALNUT FIELD

PICKAWAY-CO track, field and oratorical day starting Friday morning and ending Friday night was observed on a typical May day with a crowd of 2,500 attending the various events held at the Walnut-twp school.

Walnut-twp boys won the track and field meet while Miss Lorraine Peters, choosing as her subject, "Mother," won first place in the oratorical contest held in Chautauqua Tent at the school Friday night. Miss Peters represented the Ashville school. New Holland girls won the girl's athletic events.

In the oratorical contest the centralized schools of Jackson, Monroe, New Holland, Deer Creek, Muhlenberg, Drby, Pickaway, Salt Creek, Perry, Ashville, Scioto and Washington were contenders for the honors.

New Holland has won the speaking event for five years, but this year the Ashville speaker topped the honors. Miss Peters chose an ideal subject with "Mother's Day" just a week off, and she was complimented for her delivery and the manner in which she handled her subject.

Miss Medrith Redman, Darby-twp, won second place with her oration, "Seed, Blossom and Fruit." Her subject indicated that she had given considerable time and study to its preparation.

Third honors went to D. DeWitt Bach, Jackson-twp, his subject being "The Roots of the Constitution." His topic was most interesting, showing a wide preparation on historical subject matter.

TURNER INDIVIDUAL STAR
The individual stars of the track meet were Turner of Perry who took first place in three dashes and Dunkle of Walnut who scored 16 1-4 points.

It was reported that sickness handicapped a number of the schools.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY
BY GEORGE KIRKSEY

Winning the Davis Cup back from France this year appears less and less the hopeless task many expected it to be following the victory of "The Four Horsemen of the Seine" at Germantown last September.

In ending the seven-year reign of the United States as the monarch of the tennis world, France appeared to have a combination capable of holding the Davis Cup for many years. The defeat brought home the sad realization that "Little Bill" Johnston was through as a factor in Davis Cup play and that "Bib Bill" Tilden was no more the invincible player foreign stars once found him.

Black clouds continued to hover over America's tennis outlook when the U. S. L. T. A. and Tilden clashed over several issues pertaining to plans for regaining the tennis trophy. Tilden favored challenging in the European zone and threatened to desert the American team if his wishes were not obeyed.

A truce was effected with Tilden after installation of the new officers, Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the Davis Cup committee, and Samuel H. Collom, president of the U. S. L. T. A.

Tilden was appointed captain of the 1928 Davis Cup team and he immediately began laying the foundation for a formidable combination to attempt to bring the Davis Cup back to his country. Tilden's work has been well done so far. The team which conquered Mexico in the first American zone match was composed of Tilden, John Hennessy of Indianapolis, Arnold Jones of Providence, R. L. Wilmer of Fort Worth, Texas, and Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., alternate. Only Allison of Port Worth, Texas, and Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., alternate. Only Allison of Port Worth, Texas, and Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., alternate.

Tilden had ever participated in a Davis cup match before. Tilden won two singles matches, Allison and Hennessy one singles match each and Tilden and Jones the doubles match, making a clean sweep against Mexico.

America's chances of victory are not alone enhanced by the splendid showing of the youngsters, but by the unfortunate turn of affairs which has weakened the French team.

Rene La Coste was forced to abandon practice by a severe attack of grippe and only lately returned to the courts on the Riviera after a long layoff. La Coste also had trouble with his old bugaboo, neuritis of the elbow.

Several of the French tennis experts have expressed the fear that Jan Borotra and Jacques Brugnon will not be at the top of their games this summer because of the long tour in which the pair played in South America, the United States, Australia and other countries last fall and winter.

"Pere" La Coste, father of the French ace, believes the United States will win back the Davis Cup, but not this year.

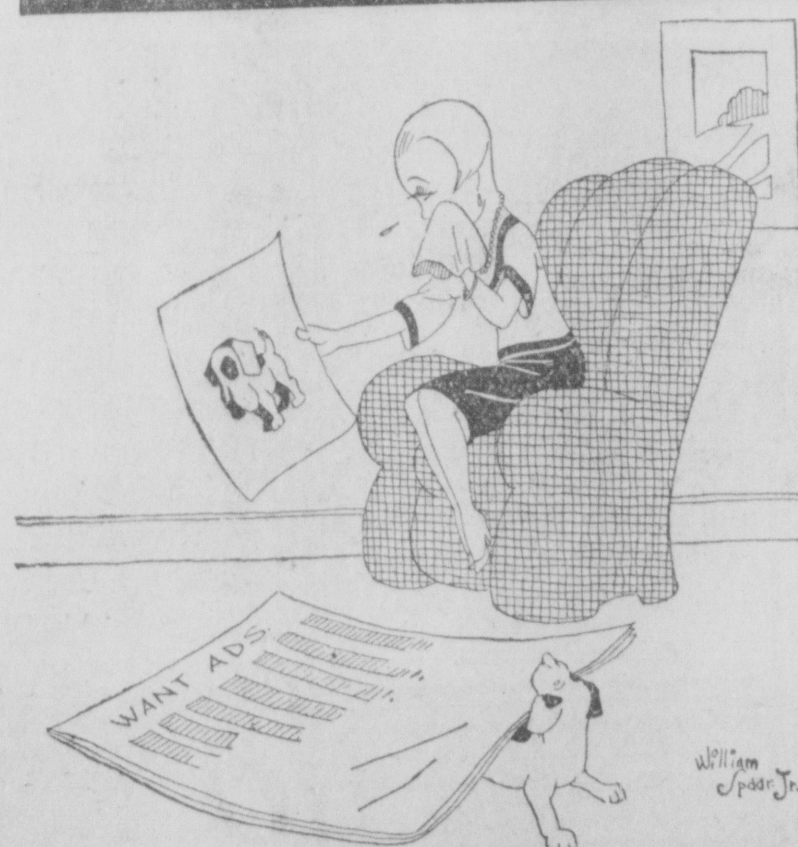

"Tilden has the right idea, youth will win, if not this year then in two or three," Mons. La Coste said. "I do not expect France to hold the Davis Cup longer than three years at the most."

"I wish France had twenty such players as those Tilden has to choose from. Unfortunately for us when we have named Boussus and De Bubelet, there are no young prospects left. As long as Borotra's legs hold out and Brugnon keeps his health, France's hopes will remain high, but our four are getting older every day."

"I hope the United States meets France in the Challenge Round, but I shall regret that 'Little Bill' Johnston will not be here, for I have always admired him as a player. It was always a puzzle to me how a tiny man could hit a ball so hard. Rene used to tell me that Johnston hit the ball harder than any man whom he ever played. His shots were like cannonballs."

"Pere" La Coste is largely responsible for France's possession of the Davis Cup. Only his refusal to allow Rene to quit tennis to enter the automobile business kept the French ace on the courts during the last few years.

BABE'S MARK .357

NEW YORK, May 5—After a poor start, Babe Ruth now boasts the respectable batting average of .357. In four times at bat against the White Sox yesterday he got four hits, including his sixth homer of the season. Joe Hauser of the Athletics, who has replaced Lou Gehrig as the Babe's home run rival, also got one and now has five homers.
